AUTO PARADE CLOSES SHOW

Annual Event Formally Ends With
Pageant in Which Fifty Machines Take Part.

MRS. R. G. BUDD GETS FIRST

Road Races and Several Show
Events Are Held Today—Sale
Continues Tomorrow.

The annual horse show was formally closed last evening with the automobile parade, in which fifty machines were in line. The show was supposed to close last night but due, to the large number of entries some of the events were held over until today. The parade moved south in Main street amid the glare of red fire and was a very fitting close for the best horse show ever held.

The parade was a success from the standpoint of numbers but it fell rather flat as far as the competition for prizes is concerned. Only three or four machines were entered for the $70 in prize money for the three best decorated automobiles. For some unknown reason little interest was shown in the decorating although everyone was willing to drive in the parade. Mrs. R. G. Budd was given first prize for the best decorated machine; Charles Caldwell, second and Paul Offutt, driving A. L. Riggs' machine, took down third money.

Mrs. Budd was an easy winner and had a beautifully decorated machine. The colors of the horse show were used. The back ground was of purple and was studded with yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Alleine Budd drove the auto in the parade. The other prize winners were decorated in purple and yellow bunting.

The parade formed at Perkins and Seventh streets and moved south in Main to Second street. The Rushville band headed the parade and the Arlington band was near the center of the line. The crowd thronged on all the streets and it is estimated to be even larger than last year when one of the largest crowds ever on the streets of Rushville witnessed it.

In the other special events Bliss & Cowing were awarded first prize for the best decorated show window and Roy Jones second.

Besides several show events left over from yesterday the two road races were held this morning. The races included a pace and a trot. The time in the events was rather slow due to the heavy condition of the street. The combination sale started this afternoon. The sale promised to be the largest ever held in Rush county and the stock to be sold is of very high grade. The sale will continue tomorrow. The awards of yesterday follow:

LIBRARY WILL BE CLOSED

Rooms Will be Redecorated And
Book Shelves Added.

The library rooms in the court house will be closed next Monday for an indefinite length of time while the decorating and repair work to the rooms is being done. The librarian is especially anxious that any books out be returned, if possible, before the library closes. No books will be loaned during the time the library is closed. It is planned to redecorate the walls, repair the floor, put in some new shelves to take care of the many new books that are being added and to retouch the rooms generally so as to make them more attractive.

SAM RALSTON IS TO SPEAK HERE

Democratic Candidate For Governor
Will Make Open Air Address
Tuesday Afternoon, Oct. 29.

OTHER DEMOCRATIC MEETS

Sam Ralston, Democratic candidate for governor, will be the chief speaker at a Democratic political meeting to be held here Tuesday, October 29. If the weather is fit, Mr. Ralston will speak in the open air from a platform in the court house yard. Sam Trabue, Democratic county chairman, says a meeting will be held the same night, but the speaker is not yet known.

The Democrats have arranged several speakers for next week. Next Thursday night Thomas Duncan of Princeton will speak here at the Coliseum. On the afternoon of this day, Mr. Duncan and D. W. McKee of Connersville will speak at Milroy. On the evening of the day following Phillip Zoehler, Democratic candidate for reporter of the supreme court, will speak at Raleigh. J. T. Arbuckle and D. W. McKee will speak at Homer next Tuesday night. Finly Gray, sixth district congressman, will speak in the Democratic club rooms Saturday night of this week.

Gurliel Jensen of Shelbyville, Bull Moose candidate for congress, will come into this county next week for several speeches.

GOODS AND HOUSE DAMAGED

Defective Flue Causes Fire at Jasper
Maple's Home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Maple in Jersey City caught fire from a defective flue early yesterday afternoon and considerable damage was done before the blaze was extinguished. The back part of the house was burned down and some of Mr. and Mrs. Maple's household goods were damaged and destroyed at a loss of $35, which is covered by insurance. The house was damaged to a greater extent. There is no insurance on it. Neighbors and country people who were coming here to the horse show assisted in putting out the fire, for which Mr. and Mrs. Maple are extremely thankful. They believe that the timely assistance saved them from having a much greater loss.

ENTRY IS DRAWN.

Harrie Jones started Katherine R in the 2:14 trot at Lexington yesterday, but she was drawn in the third heat. The mare finished seventh and eighth in the two heats she raced. Mr. Jones has several horses at the Blue Grass meeting this week.

DOESN'T DODGE A SINGLE ISSUE

R. H. Langford Meets Political Conditions Squarely in Rousing
Speech at Milroy.

VIRILE ORATOR AT 70 YEARS

Nebraskian Spoken Here in Every Campaign in 24 Years—De-
plores Roosevelt Attack.

Richard Langford of Platte, Nebraska, drew a large crowd at Milroy last night where he made a forceful and eloquent plea for the return of President Wm. Howard Taft to the white house. Mr. Langford's speech was devoted to the tariff, the Republican national convention, reciprocity and the political situation in Indiana. Although he is seventy years old, Mr. Langford is just as virile and forceful as one fifty years younger. He keeps astride the times and is well acquainted with the political conditions as they exist today. Mr. Langford left this afternoon for Shelbyville where he will speak tonight.

The Nebraskian is a veteran campaigner, and this year he says he is more in earnest than ever before because the Republican party is attacked from within as well as without. Mr. Langford has been in every presidential campaign for twenty-four years, actively engaged in stumping the country. And incidently he has made a speech in Rushville in everyone of those campaigns. "And I hope to speak in Rush county every campaign for the next twenty-four years," added Mr. Langford.

The Nebraskian recalls when he made a Republican speech in the court house yard here in the campaign of 1900. He declares that he will never forget that day because it was one of the good old-fashioned rallies with a parade two miles in length.

"Referring to the Bull Moose candidate for governor the speaker said that he had always refrained from attacking any one personally, but occasionally there was a time when it became an imperative duty to lift the curtain so that the people could get a clear view of the startling truths which follow in the wake of both Roosevelt and Beveridge. He branded them as the champion pervariators of modern times.

When the veil is drawn aside, the speaker said, and the voters of Indiana look into the charnel house of Beveridge's untruthfulness, hypocrisy, double-dealing, dishonorable practices, intemperate habits and colossal egotism, they will come to the conclusion that he would be a dangerous man for governor of Indiana.

Mr. Langford deplored the act of the mentally unbalanced man who attempted to kill Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee last Monday night, but added that the acts of a maniac should not settle the great issues of this campaign.

In discussing the tariff the speaker stated that he believed in a change and that the Republican party, which never stands still and has been the real progressive party since its birth, believes in a change and has constantly altered tariff laws in order to meet conditions. He referred to the Democratic plank of 1912, which was written by William Jennings Bryan and which is identical word for word with the Democratic tariff plank of 1892, the forerunner of a disastrous panic, hard times and the soup houses of a year later.

"The Democrats say that if Wilson is elected there will be no great change in the tariff," commented Continued on Page 8

REHEARING IS REFUSED

Indiana Supreme Court Today Denies
New Trial in Famous Marshall
Constitution Case.

NO VOTE WILL BE TAKEN NOW

Latest Action Will Probably Close
All Litigation—No Opinion
Rendered.

The Indiana Supreme Court in Indianapolis today denied the petition for a rehearing of attorneys for Governor Marshall and other defendants in the suit to annul the proposed new Indiana Constitution. The denial of the rehearing was accompanied by no opinion. The action of the court precludes a possibility that the proposed law will go on the ballot at the coming election.

The petition for rehearing was filed by the appellants August 31, following a decision from the supreme court, rendered July 5, in which the new Constitution act of 1911 was declared invalid and the decision of Judge Charles Remster, of the Marion county circuit court, enjoining the state board of election commissioners from placing the proposed new law on the ballot for ratification or rejection by the voters, was sustained.

The action of the court today probably marks the close of all litigation in connection with the case. The suit was brought by John T. Dye, as a taxpayer, against Governor Marshall, Lewis G. Ellingham the former members of the state board of election commissioners, to enjoin them from placing the proposition for a new constitution on the ballot for the people to pass on.

ACCIDENT MARS ONE OF ROAD RACES

William Merrill Sustains Painful Injuries While Watching One of Horse Show Events.

RECEIVES BAD CUT ON HEAD

William Merrill, living five and one-half miles southwest of the city, was painfully injured this morning when he stepped in front of a horse which was driven by Ed Schantz in one of the road races held in connection with the horse show in First street. Mr. Merrill sustained a three inch cut on his head and several bruises.

He was watching the race and failed to see Schantz, who was behind the leading horses. The crowd yelled at Mr. Merrill and he became confused. He was brushed to one side and received the cut from a rock in the street or from coming in contact with the curb. Mr. Merrill was first thought to have been badly hurt but an examination showed he was not seriously injured. He was taken to the office of Dr. Logan where two stitches were taken to close the wound. Schantz was in no way to blame for the accident.

CITY WATER TO BE SHUT OFF

Superintendent Plans to Wash Out
The Mains Tonight.

The city water will be turned off for about two hours tonight, beginning at midnight, so that the mains may be washed out. Patrons of the city water plant have noted that the water has been very red and muddy looking for the last few days. Superintendent A. T. Mahin says this is due to the magnesia and iron that has collected in the mains from the water. This is expected to rectify the trouble.

HUMAN SKELETON IS FOUND IN PIT

Workmen Near Blue Ridge Make
Gross Discovery While
Hunting Out Gravel.

A gross discovery was made Thursday in the John King gravel pit near Blue Ridge by Mr. King and several fellow workmen who were hauling gravel on the road, when they unearthed a human skeleton, while loading the wagon, says the Shelbyville Democrat.

The skeleton is thought to be that of an Indian as the bones were very large and resembled those of a muscular brave. Another thing that indicates that the skeleton is that of a red man is that a pipe supposed to have been used by the Indians was unearthed also in the gravel pit.

The find is the second one of its kind unearthed in the past two months, one being unearthed several weeks ago on the George W. Smith farm on Flat Rock river south of Waldron.

In removing the skeleton from the King gravel pit the head was severed from the neck and crumbled to dust. The bones of the arms and legs were fairly well preserved, and after the residents of the community had viewed the skeleton, Mr. King, with the aid of the other men, buried it again.

RALLY AT KNIGHTSTOWN

Republicans Planning For Big Time
There Tomorrow.

The Republicans of Knightstown and vicinity are all set for a big rally there tomorrow. Col Frank B. Posey of Evansville, former congressman, and former Congressman Chawey will speak in the afternoon. At night the address will be delivered by Congressman McKinley of California. He is said to be a gifted orator, one of the most eloquent of California's native sons. He can tell something about the much-mooted California case in the Republican national convention, and the condition that conspired to make it. There will be fireworks and bands and drum corps for the occasion.

WAS FINED ON TWO CHARGES

"Chuck" Bartlett of Near Milroy
Paid Total of $22.

"Chuck" Bartlett of near Milroy was arraigned before Mayor Black this morning and pleaded guilty to two charges—intoxication and hitching a rig in an alley. He was fined one dollar and costs in both cases, the amount being $22, which he paid. Jack Crush, a well known character from near New Salem was fined one dollar and costs for public intoxication but was 'floated' when he promised to leave the city.

Dr. Biederwolf preached on "Atonement" before one of the largest week night crowds ever in the tabernacle last night. Following the automobile parade many people went to the revival services.

Dr. Biederwolf attacked those who have attempted to discredit the Christian religion. He pointed out that the word means the reconciliation of those who have been separated, and so the atonement of Jesus Christ was God's plan to bring a reconciliation between himself and the sinners of the world. The special musical programs the last two nights have been very much appreciated. The duets by Mr. Heaton and Miss Parshall, and Mr. McEwan and Mr. Heaton were melodious and expressive. And too, Rushville people are only too anxious to have every opportunity possible to hear B. F. Miller.

Dr. Biederwolf's sermon last night in part was as follows:

"I am going to talk to you tonight about the atonement of Jesus Christ, the central doctrine of the Christian faith, the temple of God's religion whose foundation is laid in the eternal purpose of the Father and whose pinnacle flashes in the light of uncreated glory.

"Now what do we mean by the atonement. More theological battles, I think, have been fought around this great truth than all the rest of the Christian doctrines put together. I've got several shelves of books in my library on the atonement, and I've read them all, and studied them and blue penciled them. I's weighed their explanations and waded through their theorizations, but after all I've never found so easy a way to understand and appreciate the atonement as just to come with an honest mind and open heart to the word of God and read what God has to say about it.

"What does atonement mean? It's a very ancient word, and means "at-one-ment;" it means the reconciliation of those who have been separated.

"When man denies the Atonement, do you know what he does? He does four things.

"1. He flies in the face of the written word of Almighty God. From Genesis to Revelation, the Atonement runs through like the scarlet thread through all the cordage of the British navy. Take the Atonement out of this blessed Book, and as a resolution of the problem of life its

W. D. HEYBURN

Senator From Idaho
Dead at Washington.

THE SENATE LOSES AGGRESSIVE LEADER

Senator Heyburn Succumbs to Long Illness.

Washington, Oct. 18.—At his apartment in the Wyoming here last night, Weldon Brinton Heyburn, United States senator from Idaho, died. The senator had been suffering for several months from heart trouble, and grave concern had been expressed over his condition for a week or more.

Senator Heyburn had the reputation of being one of the hardest working and also, on occasion, one of the most stubborn men in congress. He was born in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, May 23, 1852. His parents were Quakers. He was admitted to the bar in 1876. From the day of his appearance in congress he earned the reputation of being a virile, also able speaker.

Senator Heyburn's term would not have expired until March 3, 1915, and his death throws another senatorship open. This makes a total of 34 seats in the senate that will be at stake in the November election.

SHUT HIM UP

Schenectady's Mayor Not Permitted to Address Mill Strikers.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 18.—George R. Lunn, Socialist mayor of Schenectady, and his co-workers from that city are languishing in cells in the Herkimer county jail following their arrest in Little Falls on a charge of rioting. Mayor Lunn and a number of other Socialist orators attempted to address groups of striking employees of the Phoenix mills in Little Falls, in defiance of the ordinance which prohibits the delivering of speeches in the public streets without a permit, and Sheriff Moon and several of his deputies swooped down on the agitators, catching eight in their net. Mayor Lunn and his companions were held in $1,000 bail each. They refused to furnish bond and were removed to the county jail. This is the second time Mayor Lunn has been arrested for attempting to address the Little Falls strikers. The latest raid by the sheriff's deputies occurred during a recess in the trial of Robert Bakaman, the former Schenectady clergyman, who has been arrested five times in the past three days for attempting to address the mill strikers.

ROOSEVELT'S STRENGTH IS FALLING OFF

Washington Republicans Outnumber Democrats and Third Termers Combined.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 28.—In the recent primaries in this state the Progressives cast about 25,000 votes out of a total vote exceeding 300,000, or about eight in every hundred. The Republican vote was greater than that of the Democrats and the Third Termers combined.

S. W. Perkins, Republican national committeeman for Washington, who has been engaged in making a canvass of the political situation in this state, says that he is in receipt of letters from every section indicating a remarkable falling off of Roosevelt's strength. The figures of the primary demonstrate that these letters accurately present popular sentiment.

Mr. Roosevelt claimed the Washington delegation in the Republican National convention in Chicago. The absurdity, not to say dishonesty, of his claim, is proven by the poor showing made by his followers in the recent primary.

A FAILURE IN COLORADO

Why the Roosevelt Movement Has Failed to Materialize.

"The Roosevelt movement is a failure in Colorado," said David Heaton of Salida, Colo., during a recent visit to Chicago, while discussing the political situation in his state. He is president and general manager of the Federal Consolidated Monumental Granite company, and is also identified with large mining interests.

"We are tired of industrial and political pyrotechnics in Colorado," he continued. "We have been through all sorts of disturbances in our state. We have seen what were called 'dynamite days.' We have had our wild and woolly experiences and we have known what it is to deal with strikes and strikers. Mr. Roosevelt is now a dangerous type of political striker, doing nothing but raising trouble. We do not want a man of his temperament in the White House. We prefer to support President Taft."

Roosevelt a Frost in Oregon. A. V. Spalding, a widely known contracting engineer of Portland, Ore., while on his way east from Portland, reports that the Roosevelt tour through Washington, Oregon and the Pacific coast states was a frost.

A letter received at the Taft headquarters from Edward D. Baldwin, secretary of the Oregon state central committee, says:

"Things are looking better here every day for Taft. The lukewarm reception given Roosevelt in Portland the other day has given courage to our people."

Decreasing in Iowa.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 29.—James H. Tremm and Luther A. Brewer of this state, officers of the Iowa League of Taft Clubs, who have been assisting in the organization of Republicans in the state, have received reports from every county showing the decrease of Roosevelt sentiment, and assert that the Republican strength of the state is crystallizing around President Taft.

THE COLONEL IS KEEN FOR FRAY

Roosevelt Restive Under Unaccustomed Restraint.

CONDITION DAILY IMPROVING

Hospital Surgeons at Chicago Express Belief That Their Patient May Be Allowed to Return to Oyster Bay Next Week Unless Wholly Unexpected Complications Should Interfere—Colonel Issues a Statement.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The surgeons in attendance upon Colonel Roosevelt at Mercy hospital say he is gaining steadily and believe that he is upon the highroad to recovery, unless complications set in. "The colonel is resting well and reacting rapidly to his normal temperament, and we are all much pleased with his condition," is the way Chief Surgeon John B. Murphy put it.

The crucial period is expected to be reached tonight. If no trace of septic poisoning develops by that time the doctors say it will be a case of marking time during the tedious period of the wound healing, and that in a week's time at least it will be possible to move the colonel to his home in Oyster Bay.

The steady improvement of the colonel is attributed in part to the firm manner of Mrs. Roosevelt in taking charge of the sick room. With the load of anxiety caused by a belief that the bulletins of the surgeons were holding something back removed from her mind, Mrs. Roosevelt took full charge of the sick room and ruled the colonel with an iron hand, limiting his callers to the members of the family circle and a few others. Not for some time did the colonel become aware of the fact that his wife was acting as intermediary. He then expostulated mildly because he was not given an opportunity to say anything about it, by saying: "This fight for the rule of the people is all a sham. Here I am a victim of machine rule myself."

But the protest was without avail. The colonel is confident that ten days' time will see him taking part in the campaign again. A program of quiet and rest will be the order for the colonel. Probably his only guest aside from the members of his family will be his running mate, Governor Hiram Johnson. Governor Johnson is scheduled to make a speech in Chicago tonight, and will have an interview with the colonel.

Colonel Makes a Statement.

Colonel Roosevelt has issued a signed statement, the first since the attack on him in Milwaukee. In his perusal of the newspapers his attention was attracted to the Franklin (Ind.) speech of Colonel W. J. Bryan. He summoned a stenographer and made reply to Mr. Bryan as follows: "I wish to express my cordial agreement with the manly and proper attitude of Mr. Bryan at Franklin, Ind., when, in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of the issues at stake in this contest he said:

"The issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin. Neither Colonel Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion should be turned away from the principles that are involved. If he is elected president it should be because of what he has done in the past and what he proposes to do hereafter."

"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on precisely as if I had not been shot. I shall be sorry if Mr. Wilson does not keep on the stump and, I feel that he owes it to himself and the American people to continue on the stump."

"So far as my opponents are concerned, whatever could with truth and propriety have been said against me and my cause before I was shot can with equal truth and equal propriety be said against me now and it should be so said; and the things that cannot be said now are merely the things that ought not to have been said before. This is not a contest about any man; it is a contest concerning principles."

"If my broken rib heals fast enough to relieve my breathing I shall hope to be able to make one or two speeches yet in this campaign; in any event, if I am not able to make them, hundreds will be stating our case to the end of the campaign, and I trust our opponents will be stating their case also."

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:24-30 and Matthew 23:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."—John 6:37.

Chronologically the incident of the centurion's servant precedes that of the Syrophenician woman, though we will look at them in the order suggested. The one incident occurs near the border of Tyre and Sidon, probably about May or June, A. D. 29, and the other in Capernaum during the summer of A. D. 28. Both are incidents in the life of Jesus that have to do with his ministry as the Hebrew Messiah to those who were outside of the pale of Judaism.

At the beginning of Mark's record (v. 24) we have a wonderful suggestion as to the strain of Jesus, ministry and the accompanying lesson that true righteousness cannot be hid, it speaks for itself.

There are four uses of the word "answered" in Matthew's record of this incident (Matt. 15:21-28) that are suggestive. Let us first, however, get the setting. This woman was a Greek—a Gentile; by race she was a Syrophenician, that is, a Canaanite. Thus she was a descendant of that race whom God, by the hand of Joshua, had driven out to make room for the Hebrew nation, and as such is under the ban of God. See Eph. 2:12. Yet this woman reaches Jesus, her trouble being that her daughter is possessed by an unclean spirit. At her approach she takes a lowly place at Jesus' feet and requests that he heal the child. She calls him the "Son of David," and "He answered her not a word." Matt. 15:23. She had no claim upon him as the Messiah. This was the wrong footing, for she was not a child of the kingdom. It was her need that drove her to him. How she had heard of him is suggested in Mark 3:8 and 7:24, cf. Rom. 10:17. There are some questions that silence will not answer. A wrong conclusion will be reached, as in this case the disciples came to a wrong conclusion and desired to "send her away." Contrast Jesus' patience with the disciples' impatience, "she crieth after us" and emphasize the danger of external judgment. There are many great moral issues today that are demanding another answer than that of silence.

The Answer of Law.

Jesus then made a second answer, the answer of law, Matthew 15:24, in which he accepts her estimate of him as the Jewish Messiah. His work was primarily to the Jews (John 1:11, 12). But her need was great, and identifying herself with the need of the child she "worshipped" Jesus. He is more than the Messiah, he is a Saviour. Not yet, however, is Jesus ready to grant her request. His third answer (v. 25), the answer of mercy, is literally that first the children must be fed, and she replied, "Yea, Lord; even the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs." For this saying, viz., that she did not protest against the words he had spoken, but accepted the proper estimate of him as being the Jewish Messiah and herself as outside of that covenant, he made a fourth answer, the answer to faith. He answered: "O, woman, great is thy faith," v. 28, and grants her carte blanc (v. 28), "be it unto thee even as thou wilt." As outcasts, we must cast ourselves "at his feet."

Let us now look at the account of the centurion's servant. Once more Jesus is appealed to by one who is outside the Hebrew covenant and on behalf of a servant. In the other incident there was the interruption of a seeming refusal and here the interruption of an instantaneous granting of the request. Again we need to read the parallel accounts given by the other evangelists. Verse ten of this section is the key to this whole story. What are some of the marks of a "great faith?" First, it is tested. The servant was "dear unto the centurion," Luke 7:2. Second, it is progressive "when he heard of Jesus," Luke 7:3. Third, it will be recognized by others, Luke 7:4.

The Great Faith.

The protest in v. 9, and the remarkable commendation of Jesus thereon, is a solemn warning to all who are in covenant relations with God and his Son whom he has sent. Jesus had there a glimpse of that great coming day when all Gentiles would be gathered unto him, v. 11 (cf. Rev. 7:9). The centurion received for his faith commendation, and healing for his servant as well, v. 13.

Why should there be such a difference in the treatment of these two when we read of each that they had great faith?—Matthew 15:28 and 8:10. The difference can be explained only by the fact that the Master knew all the facts about both and he adopted such tactics for each as were best suited to the case. This impresses us with the truth that personal work cannot be done by any rule of thumb; indeed, the Master seems seldom to have used the same method twice. Is there then no common factor in these two incidents? The yielding of faith always gains that which is sought.

[Copyright, 1911, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.]

Mission to the Gentiles. Mark vii:24-30; Matt. viii:13.

Golden Text—He that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. John vi:37.

(1.) Verse 24—Where were "the borders of Tyre and Sidon," to which Jesus had come, and what probably had induced him to come here?

(2.) Why did Jesus want to hide himself?

(3.) What evidence is there that Jesus did not run recklessly into danger and that he taught his disciples in harmony with his practice?

(4.) Is it cowardly or brave and wise to run from danger when our hurt would injure the cause for which we stand?

(5.) Verses 25-26—What difference is there, if any, between the natural heart hunger for God of an educated heathen and of an educated Christian?

(6.) What are the reasons for believing that God has always loved the people of other nations as well as he has loved the Jews?

(7.) In which are normal parents more interested, themselves or their children? Give your reasons.

(8.) Will Christ today spurn any that come to him for help, whether white or black, bad or good? Why? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(9.) Verse 27—Why did Jesus give this harsh answer to the agonizing request of this woman?

(10.) What was the literal meaning of these figurative words of Jesus?

(11.) Why is it that God often permits providence to frown upon us and that our prayers for good things remain so long unanswered?

(12.) Which process develops the more sturdy character, to get all one wants with little or no effort or to be compelled to wait and work and suffer in order to obtain necessary things?

(13.) Verses 28-29—How do you account for this woman's wisdom and great faith?

(14.) What spirit upon the whole did this woman show?

(15.) Why does humility become us all in our approaches to God?

(16.) Verse 30—If we persevere in our prayers and are not discouraged may we rest with perfect assurance that they will finally be answered? Why?

(17.) When our prayers are answered are the results generally below or above our expectation? Give your reasons.

(18.) Matt. viii:5-7—Who was this man and what was a centurion?

(19.) What would you say was the religious character of this man?

(20.) Is there enough light in every nation, whether they have the Bible or not, so that men may find their way to God? Why?

(21.) Verses 8-9—What is the relation between humility and faith?

(22.) If God by speaking a word can heal all the sick and give comfort to all in trouble why does he not do so?

(23.) Verses 10-13—Is great faith under our own control? Why?

(24.) What is the reward for great faith?

(25.) What is the punishment for lack of faith?

(26.) Is our faith for specific things always honored or are we at times disappointed? Why?

Lesson for Sunday, Oct. 27, 1912. Wanderings in Decapolis. Mark vii:31-viii:10.

Emperor Constantine's Edict.

The celebration of the 1600th anniversary of Constantine's victory at Milvian Bridge and the promulgation of the Edict of Milan, which gave legal recognition to Christianity, will be made the occasion of imposing pilgrimages to Rome. The bishops of the entire Roman communion have been invited to participate in fetes that are being prepared for on a large scale by a local Roman committee.

The success of the celebration seems already assured. The program will be marked by a series of religious ceremonies to take place in the various basilicas and catacombs. A large extent of ground is to be bought outside the Porto del Popolo, near the Milvian Bridge, and on it will be erected a new basilica commemorating the victory of the Cross. The city has been rapidly building up in this direction of late years and the new basilica will serve as a parish church for this new neighborhood.—The Churchman.

NO IDLERS IN CANAL ZONE

That Busy Community Is Said to be the Most Orderly in the World.

In all this wide, wide world the most orderly community is that of the Panama canal zone, writes Mary Gay Humphreys in Scribner's. Here is the least crime; here are the fewest misdemeanors, the least exercise of the functions of the courts, the most industrious, the fewest idlers, absolutely no poor, equally conspicuous the absence of the rich.

With its steam shovels working like sentient beings, its locomotives rushing about like screaming busybodies, its cement buckets skimming over the earth and riding the air to perform their varied tasks, with the long dirt trains weaving and turning on their tortuous tracks like pythons, still the most persistent impression is of beauty, orderliness and propriety.

The greatest public work the world has ever seen is carried on not only with unremitting diligence, enthusiasm and honesty, but with elegance, a high standard of living and a morale to which the oldest and most opulent cities have never attained.

These are the words of truth and soberness. The problems of the engineer are greater than man has ever before encountered, but in kind. The cubic yards of dirt and cement transcend experience, but only in bulk. It is the organization that is without precedent in the whole history of public works—it is this that is the eighth wonder of the world.

In this organization there is no detail so minute not to have received attention; from the most puzzling problems in engineering to the American youth's love of ice cream nothing seems to have been left unconsidered. This elaboration of detail has doubtless been gradual, but to the visitor coming upon its completeness today the impression is staggering and not unmixed with envy.

But That Was Long Ago.

Hewitt—Times have changed. Jewett—Right you are; I remember when a pedestrian had an even chance for his life when he tried to cross the street.

Prosperity and Pay.

Roosevelt, Beveridge, and all the minor moozers are doing much talking about getting more prosperity into the pay envelope. But HOW they are going to do it does not appear from their speeches. Surely they cannot do it simply by using the dictionary. Hot air pressure will certainly be insufficient to induce the millennium. Never a party came before the people promising more specific things, and proposing fewer specific ways of bringing those things to pass. "Social justice" is a fine mouth full. But what does it mean, so far as Perkins, Bev. Teddy and Bill Flinn are concerned? If Perkins will not permit social justice to be done to the workers employed in the plants of the Harvester trust, how can he be expected to

What Our Neighbors

PRIZE BONE-HEADS.

(Kokomo Tribune.)

The managers of the Progressive party at Indianapolis will take rank as the prize bone-heads of the campaign. Tuesday morning when they learned of the deplorable assault on the life of Theodore Roosevelt they started out immediately to try to manufacture campaign thunder from the regrettable event. They hired Majestic theater and sent wagons and bands out on the streets all day long to advertise what they said would be an indignation meeting. The ill advised meeting turned out to be a miserable farce, there not being more than five or six hundred present, and the proceedings were a dismal and ghastly failure. The wretch who shot Colonel Roosevelt is a miserable, irresponsible madman. His act is deplored by all right minded people. Nobody who is fit to be outside of a penitentiary can feel anything but horror at such a deed. But campaign managers who seize upon a happening and try to make campaign capital out of it are not far from as despicable as the dastard who committed the act. An indignation meeting to include all who deplore this crime would need include almost the entire population. The reason not more than five or six hundred people attended the Indianapolis meeting is that all the rest of the people discovered the unworthy purpose of the gathering and very properly absented themselves from it.

Why will the Democrats claim that the tariff has caused the advance in prices, when any common sense man knows that the biggest single factor has been the exhaustion of the free lands. The price of land in Minnesota, Iowa, and similar States has risen 149% in ten years, and a rise in cost of the products of such land is simply inevitable.

The Democratic party has always been hostile to the merit system in government. It enunciated and has consistently favored the doctrine, "To the victor belongs the spoils." A hungry horde of office seekers is eagerly hoping for Democratic success. Efficiency, of course, is a side issue.

FALLS OVER GUY ROPE

Margaret Morton's Arm Broken—
Didn't Know it For Days.

Mrs. Margaret Morton, a teacher in the Milroy schools and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hiner of this city, carried a broken bone in one arm for several days and never knew it. She tripped over a guy rope on the merry-go-round tent during the Milroy fall festival and fell, suffering a painful injury to her arm. She thought nothing of the incident until the pain grew worse day by day, and she consulted a physician and learned a bone was broken. Eventually she was compelled to quit teaching for a few days.

Sam Kinnett, the Milroy liveryman, was arrested yesterday at Milroy for assault and battery on his wife. Kinnett was said to be intoxicated at the time. He was arraigned in Squire Richey's court, entered a plea of not guilty and gave bond for his appearance. Deputy Prosecutor Wallace Morgan was called to Milroy by Squire Richey. If the case is tried, it will be done because of the persistence of Mrs. Kinnett to prosecute her husband. An effort is being made to have them patch up their differences. Kinnett wanted a change of venue, and the case will be heard here if it comes to trial. The Kinnetts have been married almost two years.

DECRIES ATTACK ON RELIGION

of no more value than a last year's almanac.

"2. He denies the testimony of the world's history. You try to write history and leave out Jesus Christ as the atoning Son of God and see where you come out. Hume tried it, and so did Gibbon, and they couldn't account for the world's mighty strides of civilization.

"Some old wind jamming skeptic comes along and proceeds to rip up the Scriptural doctrine of the Atonement, and I say 'Old Skeptic, what else has ever charmed the drunkard from his cup, or wooed the gambler from his cards, made the libertine pure and the thief an honest man?' And I say, 'until you can trot out something better than Christianity, something that will make me a pure, holy man and keep me that way, that will do for this sin cursed world what the Gospel of Jesus Christ has done for it. I'm not going to espouse your hell born doctrine, but I'm going to nail my hopes on the cross of Christ where mother nailed hers and where millions of others, the brainiest and best of the world have done the same thing.

3. He converts the testimony of the universal instinct of human soul. Expiation through vicarious sacrifice runs like a golden cord through all history, all poetry, all prose and song; you can see it in Thor's hammer, in Bramma's wounded foot, in the cry of Prometheus bound, and everywhere.

"4. He flies in the face of all reason and sense.

Now let me say this, I know the infidel arguments that are put up against the doctrine of the atonement of common sense and reason.

I say, Mr. Infidel, what are your objections to the atonement?

"1. Well," he says, "It wasn't necessary. What's the need of Christ suffering? If God is love and full of goodness, why can't a man just confess his wrong and be forgiven, just as an earthly father forgives his child without demanding satisfaction is the payment of a penalty?"

"God," he says, "ought to be as merciful as man." Well, you talk nonsense when you talk like that.

"Why can't God forgive like an earthly parent? for three reasons.

"1. If he were nothing more than a father, He's got a mighty big family and he must deal with each member of it in a way to protect them all.

"2. He's more than a Father. He's a moral governor and He's got to have concern for the rectitude of His government. The interest of the universe is at stake.

"Suppose you set up an earthly court on that principle and all hell would turn loose on the state.

"3. God is a righteous and a holy being as well as a loving one, and He's got to act in harmony with all the essential attributes of His divine character. And the Atonement instead of belittling the mercy of God, magnifies it, because what in His righteousness and justice He exacts, in His fatherly love He provides. You've got to keep the whole character of God in mind in dealing with these questions.

"2. Well," says the infidel again, "I don't believe in the innocent suffering for the guilty." You don't! Well, then you don't believe in the great law of life. Men have always suffered for others, and it's the innocent that usually suffer most.

"Look at the old mother bathing her pillow with tears while she prays and waits for the home coming of her good for nothing drunken bum of a son. Who suffers most? She don't have to suffer; she could kick him out, but she doesn't.

"3. 'Well,' but says the old infidel again, 'I can't see how the suffering of Christ can expiate guilty man's sin, so God can let him go free. I don't believe in substitution.'

"Yes, you say you don't believe in it, and yet it don't offend your sense of justice very much when you see it take place in human affairs. I might tell you it's God's business and not yours, but I won't.

"Now listen to me, and I'll help you to see it if you've got anything to see it with. But don't flaunt your little persimmon intellect in the face of God because there are divine depths that human plummets can not sound.

"When a rebellious sinner shakes his puny fist in the face of God and goes about in his sin, smashing the divine law right and left, he brings God up against a serious problem. God could annihilate you in a second if he wanted to. But He don't. He ought to. There are people here tonight and you ought to be in hell, the way you are treating God. We'd all be there if it wasn't for His love. And so love searched the depths of infinite wisdom for some plan by which four things could come to pass.

"First. That the guilty sinner might be spared.

"Second. That he might have his heart broken and become good.

"Third. That the principle of justice in God's essential nature should be honored.

"Fourth. That his holy law should be vindicated and His moral government honored and upheld.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess offers a Selig drama "The Boob" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be an extraordinary good picture. The other is a Biograph, farce comedy entitled "The Tourists."

The Women's Candidate

By BYRON WILLIAMS

CHAPTER I.

You have felt the thrill of the chase? Your pulses have leaped like an arrow at the yip, yip of the dogs in close pursuit? You have dashed madly over fences, taking the hurdles without regard to personal danger as the prey suddenly sprang from its covert and whisked swiftly into the hazel brush ahead? You—but wait!

Fancy! Did you ever behold ten pretty, vivacious lithe-limbed young women chasing a handsome man—a perfect stranger—through a dogwood swamp, their dresses swirling high above pretty ankles, their baying, shrieks of hysterical laughter?

"Catch him! Catch him!" shrieked a slender blonde to the leading lady running ahead with an athletic stride, her head and shoulders back, her hair rippling in the wind.

"Get him, Jackie!" panted a raven-haired brunette, close behind. "Darn these narrow skirts, anyhow. I'd like to be a man long enough to wear—"

"Oh, gee—this is too—much for me!" and a solidly built blonde with a retroussé nose and a red sweater toppled onto a bed of moss under a thornapple tree and gasped for breath that persisted in cross-circuiting a chorus of chortles struggling for freedom.

"E-Yip-I-Addy-I-Ay-I-Ay!" "Run, girls, run!" "Go it!" "Hot foot!" "Whoo—p!"

A startled rabbit, aroused from his breakfast of alder shoots, sat up in mazy bewilderment, took one hasty glance and bounded away into the marsh grasses, his funny little tail bobbing through the squishy places like a meteor of down.

Ahead the man was running freely, taking an occasional swift glance over his shoulder at the foremost of the foe. One by one the pursuers were falling by the way, their laughter becoming more and more distant. Suddenly the man swerved behind a great ash along the trail and waited. Through the brush behind he heard the leader coming like a wood nymph, light and airy.

The man crouched. She was upon him now. Agilely he sprang from his hiding place and opened his arms!

With a gurgle of surprise, her cheeks as flaming red as the Oriental poppy on a sunny morning, she collided with his manly breast. Before she could free herself, the man's lips were at hers, sipping the honey with an ecstasy of delight!

"Oh!" she gasped, struggling. "Were you looking for me?" asked the man, taking toll again and holding her close.

"But—" she cried. "But—" between kisses. And then with one free hand

she boxed him soundly on the ear. He let her go instantly, rubbing his head regretfully.

She stood staring at him, her laughter given way to anger.

"Sir!" her eyes blazing. "How dare you?"

"Never mind," said the man humbly, "I'll take it back!" coming nearer and reaching for her slim waist.

Some lame philosopher has said that a woman with a sense of humor has never been born. In refutation, the girl suddenly broke forth into

"How Dare You, Sir?"

peals of laughter, backing away from him until she leaned against a tree trunk for support.

The man kept his eyes on her.

"Anyhow," he said finally, "I like the game. Who invented it?"

Coming closer, he reached forth his hand and touched her lightly on the arm.

"Tag!" he cried, and started to run.

The girl sat down unceremoniously in a tangle of grape vines.

"I had my fingers crossed!" she protested—and the man came back, disappointedly.

"I'll wait until they cramp," he said determinedly, crouching at a respectable distance.

"There ain't a goin' to be any core!" nodding her golden head positively and striving to keep back the blushes.

The man seemed saddened.

"Listen," she said soberly. "If I expected ever to see you again, I'd be mortified to death. But I don't, and I'm going to make a clean breast of it, because," with maidenly modesty, "it served me right!"

He waited patiently, nodding by way of approbation.

"You're the first man that's come up to this forest primeval in five weeks. We were hunting for moccasin flowers when we caught sight of you."

"Girls! there's a man!" shouted Bess Winters—and in a spirit of mischief we set out after you. It was only a flash of feminine devilry, that would have died out at once—but when you ran—well, it was so funny we ran after you. I'm something of a sprinter and I—I got in the lead—and I—didn't expect you would—would—"

The man grinned.

"A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush!" he quoted. "I thought you'd beat 'em—and I—but I hear voices. Shall we run away?" enticingly.

"By all means, no," she replied severely.

"Very well, then, I surrender—to you."

The girl shook her head.

"I don't want you."

"What, after chasing me across that confounded swamp!" looking meaningfully at her wet and bedraggled skirt.

She reddened.

"It is a woman's privilege to reject—even after she has chased a man to cover."

"And you stand on your rights?" earnestly, but with mirth in his eyes.

"I do!" positively.

"Why?" he persisted.

"Because!"

He bowed profoundly.

"Before woman's final and always conclusive reason I seem to accept the inevitable—but do not be deceived, fair lady, 'things are not always what they seem," quoting. "I have caught you fairly on the first lap. I, too, shall stand on my rights—the rules of the game!"

"Oh, here they are. Come on, girls!" cried an eager voice.

One by one nine warm, giggling summer girls came into view, ranging a galaxy of beauty beneath the green trees.

"Did you catch him, Jackie?" cooed the brunette. "Did you?"

The golden haired one dropped her eyes.

"She has—er, she did!" said the man, speaking for her. "Is this the pack?"

"Who are you, sir, that dares call us dogs?" demanded a red-lipped blonde with hair like flax.

"I am the fox!" replied the man.

He arose to his feet and put his thumbs into the armpits of his vest, a habit he had, facing them mockingly.

"Look!" screamed the short one, "he is an officer!"

Jackie started.

With a deft movement the brunette reached forth and laid back the lapel of his coat, peering at a tiny gold star, engraved.

"Oh, girls," she cried dramatically, a ring of mischief in her voice, "look who's here; HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR!"

CHAPTER II.

"The jury will arise and be sworn!" "Jackie" Vining, the judge, waited impatiently.

"What's the matter with you, girls? Mabel, Lucile—don't you know you're jurymen—er, on the jury. Stand up! There!" with satisfaction. "Now raise your hands—no, no; your right hands! That's better. You solemnly swear, cross your hearts, hope-to-die, you will carefully weigh the evidence in this case and render a verdict according to the statutes—er, according to what you think this wretch deserves?" maliciously.

Six pretty heads nodded, in unison.

"Be seated," said the judge sternly.

"His honor, the mayor," sat on a soap box in the center of the front veranda, a mere man in the hands of the enemy, waiting his fate and trying to look unhappy.

"What's the charge," demanded Alice Mason, appointed by the court to defend the prisoner.

The judge moved uneasily in her chair. Then, in a low, cutting tone she said:

"He's a thief!"

The mayor looked up apprehensively.

"I object," he protested, "to the court's statement of the case. It is irregular in—"

"Order in the court!" interrupted the judge. "Who's running this case?"

The man lowered his eyes, accepting the inevitable.

"This defendant," began Jackie, "is a thief. He stole a kiss from—from a perfectly proper young woman who had never been kissed except by—by—well, by those who had a perfect right. I might say that he not only stole one but—I believe it was several the young lady claims he stole. He not only is a thief, but—"

"Whom did he kiss? We demand to know who the victim was?" cried the culprit's lawyer, vindictively.

"Overruled!" snapped the judge.

The mayor sighed. Things looked black enough.

"Your honor," he said apprehensively, addressing the court, "I appeal for a change of venue. I have reason to believe that the judge is prejudiced against me. I—"

Judge Vining pierced him with a glance.

"The idea!" she cried, with asperity. "Sit down, sir."

"Well, anyhow, it was worth it!" he shot back, resentfully.

The judge blushed as she opened the hotel cook book and searched ostensibly for the criminal act relative to kissing against woman's will.

"Call the first witness!" ordered the court.

Pretty Molly McConnell, her raven-crowned head held at a serious angle, her dimples set in a solemn background, took the stand.

"It was barely sun-up this morning," she said, quietly, "when we set out across the meadows after lady-slippers. Aurora was taking her maternal bath in dew as we trudged about osculation at close range. Let alone long-distance kissing. Young lady, have you ever been kissed?"

"The objection is sustained," gurgled the court, mercilessly.

The witness blushed rosily.

"I refuse to answer," she said, stubbornly.

"On what grounds?" demanded the judge.

"On the grounds of self-implication and coercion," she snapped, her chin in the air.

"The court reverses itself," easily. "Witness need not incriminate herself. Ask the next question, attorney."

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Re-

move Them With the New Drug.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine-double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any leading druggists under absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishes entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask any first class druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money back guarantee.

HOW TO RESIST

Chronic Coughs and Colds.

Strong, vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold; it's only when the system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your run down condition again?

Mrs. Olivia Parham of East Durham, N. C., says: "I took Vinol for a chronic cough which had lasted two years and the cough not only disappeared, but it built up my strength as well."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medical curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building iron added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run-down system.

You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say. F. B. Johnson & Co., druggists, Rushville.

P. S. For itching, burning skin try our Saxon Salve. We guarantee it.

PRAISE FOR MR. TAFT

EDITORIAL COMMENDATION OF HIS CHARACTER, HIS ACHIEVEMENTS AND HIS WISDOM.

ALL SECTIONS REPRESENTED

The President Eulogized Because He Is Wise, Honorable, Dignified, Courageous and Safe and His Triumphant Re-election Is Predicted.

From every section of the country comes editorial commendation of President Taft and of his administration. Quite a number of papers which, until recently, had remained independent, have, like the Clinton, Ill., Journal, declared their conviction that only the continuance of present policies will ensure the stability and prosperity of the agricultural, industrial and financial interest of the nation. The president is receiving credit for his courageous vetoes of free trade tariff bills, for his efforts to secure economical administration of the government and for his success in improving social conditions through recommending and forcefully advocating legislation. A page could well be filled with extracts from editorial columns praising the president, but the following must suffice:

Friend of Old Soldiers.

From the Clay Center, Kan., Republican. The old soldier vote should help to elect its friend, William Howard Taft, signer of the Sherman Pension bill, and son of Grant's secretary of war.

Where Mr. Taft Stands.

From the Wausau Record-Herald. Taft stands exactly where either of the great martyr presidents would have stood had they lived in his day and occupied his place. He stands for the constitution, for the courts, for the perpetuation of the tried and proved American institutions, for the principle of protection to American labor, just laws and their impartial enforcement against rich and poor, high and low, alike. No president ever had higher ideals, better comprehension of the intricacies of government, or more courage in presenting his convictions to the public.

Now Outspoken for Taft.

From the Clinton, Ill., Journal. As the Journal up to this point in the campaign has exercised its prerogative of expressing disinterested comment upon issues and candidates, so now, as an independent newspaper, it feels that the time is at hand and the opportunity is ripe to declare its policy on the issues of the day. From now on until November 5, therefore, the Journal will contribute its efforts to the success of the principles of the Republican platform and the re-election of William Howard Taft to the presidency. It is convinced that only the continuance of present policies will insure the stability and prosperity of the agricultural, industrial and financial interests of the nation, and it trembles for the future at the thought of the havoc and ruin which the success either of the Democratic party or of the misnamed "Progressive" party would mean.

Safe and Sound.

From the Casville, Mo., Republican. The country has a man in the presidential chair who can be relied upon to uphold the principles of protection and the other doctrines of the platform on which he was elected. Mr. Taft is standing courageously for the principles in which he and his party believe. Four more years of his administration offers safe and sound protection to labor and to capital.

Dignified and Positive.

From the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Press. Compare the dignity, the tact, and the positive stand taken by Mr. Taft with the bombastic acts and utterances of his predecessor, and see which measures up to the standard of a president and who has accomplished most for the country.

Has Done Much for Labor.

From the Bluefield, W. Va., Telegraph. The Taft administration can point to a solid record of practical achievements in labor legislation.

The Safest Man in Sight.

From the Petaluma, Cal., Argus. By November it is likely that the common sense of the country will have found itself so far as to see and say that, for the presidency, Mr. Taft is the safest man in sight.

Honest and Brave.

From the Morristown, Pa., Herald. Fair-minded people, even if they do not believe that bills in equity and indictments under the Sherman anti-trust law are the proper thing, must credit the president with an honest and grave determination to enforce the law as it stands.

Wise and Prudent.

From the Denver, Colo., Republican. President Taft's administration has not been one of talk and parade, of sensational assertion and show of authority. But it has been an administration of hard work in quiet and unostentatious ways. He has said little. But he has done much. The rising tide of business prosperity testifies to the wisdom and prudence of his administration, and to the confidence which the business world has in his discretion.

Great Achievements.

From the Erie, Pa., Dispatch. There is no doubt that the great achievements of Taft will be acknowledged by the historian of the future. The voter of the present ought to be no less clear-eyed to do the same.

Has Cut Down Expenditures.

From the Milwaukee, Wis., Wisconsin. One of the policies of the Taft administration carried out in the interest of the people against much selfish opposition has been the retrenchment of unnecessary and extravagant expenditures.

TURKEY TAKES BULL BY HORNS

Ottoman Empire Declares War On Allies.

FIGHT NOW IS ON IN EARNEST

Long Smoldering Rage of the Balkan Peoples Against the Islamites Will Be Given Vent in a Warfare That Will Involve All the States of Lower Europe, Including Greece, Which Is Drawn Into It Through Cretans.

London, Oct. 18.—Turkey has formally declared war upon Serbia and Bulgaria, and the minister for foreign affairs said that Greece, not included in the original declaration, would be notified at once that Turkey intends to fight her old enemy. Forestalling this action, Greece has declared war on Turkey.

When the declaration of war against the two Balkan states was made public there was much comment over the fact that Greece had been left out, but the minister of foreign affairs said that Greece had not attacked the Ottomans as had the lesser states and that therefore she was not included. As soon, however, as the porte learned that the Cretans were admitted to the Greek chamber of deputies it chose to regard that act as a casus belli.

Serbia has notified her envoy at Constantinople that she on her side, has declared war against Turkey and King Peter has gone to the front to order his troops to advance.

Turkey, in her declaration, blames Bulgaria and Serbia for the border fighting of the last few weeks and accuses the little states of attempting to interfere with the internal affairs of Turkey. The Turkish war department has made a list of the recent skirmishes on the Bulgarian frontier accusing the Bulgars of being the aggressors in every instance. The king of Bulgaria has left for the headquarters of his army.

As soon as war was declared Turkish troops were ordered to advance along the border country of Serbia and Bulgaria, and skirmishing between the Turks and allies began without delay.

There are reports of fighting among the Turks and Greeks on the frontier. Two Greek gunboats stole past the Turkish blockade at the mouth of the Gulf of Arta and captured a Turkish torpedo boat which had fled from the Italians into the almost landlocked bay and which with two steam launches armed with rapid-fire guns made a fat prize for the gunboats.

There came from Novibazar reports of an engagement between Serbian troops and tribesmen in which the former killed 200 and drove their enemies back. No definite word has come from the Montenegrin and Turkish armies facing each other after the long struggle around Scutari.

Murray and Lawson Tell What They Did For Roosevelt.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Frank A. Munsey, the publisher, testified before the senate committee that he contributed $118,000 all told to the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign. Thomas W. Lawson of Boston testified that he spent $100,000 in advertising to promote the Roosevelt candidacy in Massachusetts.

Mr. Lawson told the committee of a $1,000,000 fund that had been pledged by "Wall street" to nominate a dark horse at the Democratic convention. The plan failed, according to Mr. Lawson, because of his co-operation with William J. Bryan.

George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee of 1904, was recalled to the witness stand and explained some of the seeming discrepancies between his previous testimony and the testimony of other witnesses. He contradicted flatly the testimony of former Governor Odell and also the testimony of J. P. Morgan. He denied that he had any knowledge of the Standard Oil $100,000 contribution.

Charged With Big Theft.

Havana, Oct. 18.—Francisco Mayos, keeper of the vault in the National bank here, has been arrested. It is charged that he and an assistant, Miss Taint, stole the $200,000 which was supposed to have been inclosed in a registered letter to the National Park bank of New York, but which never reached that institution. Mayos and Miss Taint together made up the registered package.

LIEUTENANT BECKER EAGER TO TESTIFY

State Rests Its Case in the Rosenthal Murder.

New York, Oct. 18.—After Justice Goff refused to permit the district attorney to prove that Becker, with no other apparent income than his salary of $2,250 a year as a lieutenant of police, deposited upward of $60,000 in savings banks during the months that Jack Rose acted as his collector, the state rested its case against Lieutenant Becker.

It was the only important advantage that the defense secured since the trial began on Oct. 7. The testimony had gone steadily against Becker from the first day. The district attorney had hoped to clinch his case by showing the jury a money motive for the murder and showing that it was Becker's fear that Rosenthal's exposures would stop the flow of graft and would drive him from the police department, that prompted the killing; but Justice Goff held that there was no evidence to show that Rosenthal knew that Becker was depositing large sums secured by blackmailing gamblers. It was true, said Justice Goff, that the affidavit made by Rosenthal a few days before the murder contained a statement that Becker was getting large sums of money, but such a statement, in the opinion of the court, was too inferential to be a legal basis for the introduction of such evidence as Becker's bank accounts.

John F. McIntyre said that Becker is eager to testify and that he may be allowed to have his way, but that no definite decision had been reached. The matter was a ticklish one. There was a possibility that with Becker on the stand the district attorney, privileged on cross-examination to go into Becker's whole life, might find some way to get in evidence the records of the bank accounts and to bring out other damaging facts.

MRS. WILLIAM MARCONI.

Acted as Nurse to Husband. Wireless Inventor, Hurt by Auto.

Spezia, Oct. 18.—William Marconi's right eye, which was injured in an auto accident on Sept. 25 last, has been removed. A consultation of physicians resulted in the decision that the removal of the eye was indispensable, the famous wireless inventor being threatened with total blindness. Signor Marconi stood the very painful operation without flinching. His wife, who has been a devoted nurse since her distinguished husband's accident, was present during the operation. OPENLY BETTING AT TRACK

Despite the Recent Instructions of Governor Marshall, the Race Meeting at Mineral Springs Park in Porter County Is Characterized by Gambling Open and Aboveboard, Conducted by Agents of Track's Promoters.

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 18.—At the race meeting at Mineral Springs park, near Porter, Chicago gamblers are bidding defiance to the laws of Indiana and openly are making "hand books." There were thousands of spectators from Chicago and Indiana at the races and the betting was so open and bold that messengers circulated among the women in the grandstand, exhibited programs containing the odds and accepted wagers from the women. In the betting shed there were nineteen "hand books" operated by three men each of whom accepted every wager offered, and there was no effort at any time to prevent operations. The book makers paid $25 a book for the privilege of operating, and the few "piker" books that attempted to operate without paying tribute were closed and their owners were escorted to the gates and told not to return until they were prepared to pay for operating.

There was no secrecy about the betting. A program on which the odds appeared was in each book and each bet was recorded in a book. When a race was run the holder of a winning ticket went to the cashier, gave his initials and obtained his money. No receipts were necessary, and the regulation bookmaker's ticket was absent from the betting ring.

Bennie Hyman, promoter of the new gambling enterprise, was about the track all afternoon and assured his patrons that the meeting would continue fifteen days. The betting was in charge of Bill Murray of Chicago, said to be a representative of Jim O'Leary, Johnnie Colby and Charles Smith, the latter two members of the gambling syndicate of Perry & Smith of Chicago. Abe Jacobs, also a representative of Perry & Smith, made the "big store" book of the afternoon. He "made" the odds and the other bookmakers followed him.

The Chicago contingent seemed to have plenty of money and anxious to wager it. Detectives from the office of Herman Schuetzler, assistant chief of police, mingled with the crowd and watched the gambling, but if there was a single deputy sheriff from Porter county or any other officer representing the state of Indiana, on the grounds he failed to make his presence known.

The Governor Speaks.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"I shall not permit betting in Indiana. I have given instructions to proper officials to this effect. If they fail to carry out my instructions, I shall displace them." This was Governor Marshall's declaration after hearing of betting at the race meeting of the Mineral Springs Jockey club at Porter, Ind. The Democratic vice presidential candidate passed through Chicago en route west on a speaking tour. "I left the duty of enforcing the law in the hands of the attorney general, Thomas M. Honan," Governor Marshall said. "My instructions were positive: 'Search for all evidence, take advantage of every excuse for prosecution, and wipe gambling out.' I want it understood that I am not backing down. Mr. Honan is at work and there is no doubt we will put the gamblers out of business."

PUT IN EVIDENCE

Government Introduces Many Letters in Dynamite Case.

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—Miss Mary C. Dye of Pittsburg, reported to be a former sweetheart of John J. McNamara, was an important witness in the dynamiting cases. She identified fifty or sixty letters and fully 200 more will be presented to her for the same purpose. Letters in the handwriting of Ryan, Butler, J. J. McNamara, E. A. Caney, Hockin, Webb, Barry and a few other defendants were identified by Miss Dye. She also identified letters she had written to them at McNamara's dictation and letters from P. J. Morrin and William Bernhardt as having been received at headquarters while she was employed there.

These letters, the government holds, all contain correct references to dynamiting, and they will be read to the jury as soon as this identification is completed. There are nearly 500 of these letters, and they were written in the years from 1906 to 1911 and corresponded in many instances to the transportation of dynamite and the destruction of property as testified to by McNamara before the grand jury.

"Billy" Rugh May Not Recover.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—There is no improvement in the condition of William Rugh, the crippled Gary newsboy, who parted with his useless leg to save the life of Miss Ethel Smith, burned in a motorcycle accident. His condition has become serious. Miss Smith, who is now at her home, is able to leave her bed. Skin from Rugh's leg was grafted over her burns.

THE COLORS OF DIAZ GAINING FOLLOWERS

Old President's Nephew Leads Huge Revolt.

Tampico, Mexico, Oct. 18.—Throughout the entire southern states of the republic, Felix Diaz, nephew of the deposed president of Mexico, is being proclaimed president.

Five regiments of infantry, the bulk of the federal troops on this coast, have joined the Diaz colors. After a stormy session of the congress during which Deputy Moheño demanded the resignation of the cabinet and was quashed by the president of the chamber refusing to permit discussion, Moheño again attacked the government and insisted peace could come to Mexico only through either the resignation of Madero or the intervention of the United States.

General Diaz is in undisputed control, not only of the port of Vera Cruz, but the entire state. He has three thousand men under his immediate command in that city while rebel troops, loyal to his cause, are within forty miles of the national capital. Diaz has a huge cache of arms and ammunition in Vera Cruz. He has the backing of his uncle's millions, and did not undertake this revolt without vast stores.

The Madero government is doomed. General Diaz declared that General Bernardo Reyes, now held in the military prison in Mexico City, and who is under indictment in San Antonio, Tex., will be a member of his cabinet and added that he would hold Madero strictly accountable for the welfare of Reyes. Jose Diaz Ordaz, cousin of the new insurrecto leader, who was an officer in the federal army, went over to the new cause and took not only his own, but three other regiments of government troops with him.

TRAIN WILL LEAVE AT NINE O'CLOCK

Special Over Pennsylvania For Ball Game at Richmond Sunday Will Carry Many Fans.

EXPERT CLOSE CONTEST

Local fans will be given a chance to spend Sunday in Richmond. The special train will leave here at 9 o'clock over the Pennsylvania railway. The game with the Richmond K. I. O. league team will probably be the last game of the season and since many demands have been made for a way to get to Richmond, Manager Maibaugh will accommodate the fans and run a special train.

Earl Halterman will pitch the game for Rushville and the team is confident he can win from the leaguers. Hunk Wallace will pitch for Richmond. The two teams should put up some game and a battle is expected. The Rushville line-up will not be changed as Manager Maibaugh believes his team fast enough to win.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrold have a new telephone installed in their new home at 221 North Julian street. The number is 3159.

Langford. "If that is so, the Democrats are deceitful and cannot be trusted, as they declare that a protective tariff is unconstitutional. A little Wilson was too much for the country in 1892 and it is too much for the people in 1912. A professor was in the saddle then and a professor seeks to get in the saddle now. The first Wilson knew nothing of the tariff and neither does the second professor."

Referring to the Democratic charge that the tariff is responsible for the high cost of living, Langford showed that the cost of living is as high and higher in the free trade countries of Europe. He stated and proved that the real cost of the living conditions is that the consumption is greater than the production.

"Roosevelt was never robbed of the nomination at Chicago, because his name was not presented to the convention," declared Langford. "Why did he not organize the Progressive party before he went to Chicago. He had declared that he had always been a Republican and that the principles of Republicanism were the greatest ever formed by the minds of men and were destined to live always. Yet he went to Chicago to get the nomination and when he failed he changed his tune and opinion of the Republican party. His love for power is such that those who disagree with him are liars and are made members of the Ananias club. Men like Governor Hadley and Governor Deneen do not become liars in a minute or an hour."

In referring to the Chicago convention the speaker said that before Roosevelt became a candidate 117 delegates had been selected in the south for Taft and fifteen for Roosevelt. Then Roosevelt started contests for effect as was stated by Frank Munsey in his newspapers. It was an attempt to throw dust in and pull the wool over the eyes of the people. Roosevelt started in the convention with more than 200 contests, but after consideration they were reduced to 72, the number contained in the motion of Governor Hadley to seat the Roosevelt delegates. Roosevelt then tried to get Governor Deneen to reduce the number to thirty-four. If the motion had carried Roosevelt would not have had sufficient delegates to nominate himself.

The speaker showed the California delegates were elected from a district that opposed Roosevelt by a majority of several thousand and that under the Johnson gag law, which provides that as the state goes in the primary so goes every district. The convention held that the district vote should rule.

"Suppose that Governor Marshall of Indiana should have a law enacted declaring that when a state cast a majority of its votes for a certain party every congressman from every district shall follow the rule of the majority," said Langford. "Then, if Indiana goes Democratic next month and Billy Risk is elected, as he will be, he will not be able to serve and his Democratic opponent, although not elected, will take a seat in congress. That is a supposition but it clearly illustrates the California case."

Referring to the Canadian reciprocity Langford argued that as the Canadians turned it down it must have been good for the United States as it was bad for Canada. He also spoke of the abuse of Taft by the magazines because he sought to make them pay extra postage on their advertising sections. The abuse was led by Frank Munsey and Collier's, who are now leading the Roosevelt fight.

"Taft sought to reduce the cost of harvesting machinery to the American farmer starting the prosecution against the Harvester trust," declared Langford. "He then made an enemy of George W. Perkins, who ought to be in the penitentiary. Perkins is now putting up the money for the Roosevelt fight."

The size of the crowd last night was reduced by the counter attractions both here and at Milroy, where a revival is in progress. The Rushville drum corps played at the meeting.

AUTO PARADE CLOSES SHOW

Annual Event Formally Ends With
Pageant in Which Fifty Machines Take Part.

MRS. R. G. BUDD GETS FIRST

Road Races and Several Show
Events Are Held Today—Sale
Continues Tomorrow.

The annual horse show was formally closed last evening with the automobile parade, in which fifty machines were in line. The show was supposed to close last night but due to the large number of entries some of the events were held over until today. The parade moved south in Main street amid the glare of red fire and was a very fitting close for the best horse show ever held.

The parade was a success from the standpoint of numbers but it fell rather flat as far as the competition for prizes is concerned. Only three or four machines were entered for the $70 in prize money for the three best decorated automobiles. For some unknown reason little interest was shown in the decorating although everyone was willing to drive in the parade. Mrs. R. G. Budd was given first prize for the best decorated machine; Charles Caldwell, second and Paul Offutt, driving A. L. Riggs' machine, took down third money.

Mrs. Budd was an easy winner and had a beautifully decorated machine. The colors of the horse show were used. The back ground was of purple and was studded with yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Alleine Budd drove the auto in the parade. The other prize winners were decorated in purple and yellow hunting.

The parade formed at Perkins and Seventh streets and moved south in Main to Second street. The Rushville band headed the parade and the Arlington band was near the center of the line. The crowd thronged on all the streets and it is estimated to be even larger than last year when one of the largest crowds ever on the streets of Rushville witnessed it.

In the other special events Bliss & Cowing were awarded first prize for the best decorated show window and Roy Jones second.

Besides several show events left over from yesterday the two road races were held this morning. The races included a pace and a trot. The time in the events was rather slow due to the heavy condition of the street. The combination sale started this afternoon. The sale promised to be the largest ever held in Rush county and the stock to be sold is of very high grade. The sale will continue tomorrow. The awards of yesterday follow:

LIBRARY WILL BE CLOSED

Rooms Will be Redecorated And Book Shelves Added.

The library rooms in the court house will be closed next Monday for an indefinite length of time while the decorating and repair work to the rooms is being done. The librarian is especially anxious that any books out be returned, if possible, before the library closes. No books will be loaned during the time the library is closed. It is planned to redecorate the walls, repair the floor, put in some new shelves to take care of the many new books that are being added and to retouch the rooms generally so as to make them more attractive.

SAM RALSTON IS TO SPEAK HERE

Democratic Candidate For Governor
Will Make Open Air Address
Tuesday Afternoon, Oct. 29.

OTHER DEMOCRATIC MEETS

Sam Ralston, Democratic candidate for governor, will be the chief speaker at a Democratic political meeting to be held here Tuesday, October 29. If the weather is fit, Mr. Ralston will speak in the open air from a platform in the court house yard. Sam Trabue, Democratic county chairman, says a meeting will be held the same night, but the speaker is not yet known.

The Democrats have arranged several speakers for next week. Next Thursday night Thomas Duncan of Princeton will speak here at the Coliseum. On the afternoon of this day, Mr. Duncan and D. W. McKee of Commerceville will speak at Milroy. On the evening of the day following Phillip Zoehner, Democratic candidate for reporter of the supreme court, will speak at Raleigh. J. T. Arbuckle and D. W. McKee will speak at Homer next Tuesday night. Finly Gray, sixth district congressman, will speak in the Democratic club rooms Saturday night of this week.

Gurliet Jensen of Shelbyville, Bull Moose candidate for congress, will come into this county next week for several speeches.

GOODS AND HOUSE DAMAGED

Defective Flue Causes Fire at Jasper
Maple's Home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Maple in Jersey City caught fire from a defective flue early yesterday afternoon and considerable damage was done before the blaze was extinguished. The back part of the house was burned down and some of Mr. and Mrs. Maple's household goods were damaged and destroyed at a loss of $35, which is covered by insurance. The house was damaged to a greater extent. There is no insurance on it. Neighbors and country people who were coming here to the horse show assisted in putting out the fire, for which Mr. and Mrs. Maple are extremely thankful. They believe that the timely assistance saved them from having a much greater loss.

ENTRY IS DRAWN.

Harrie Jones started Katherine R in the 2:14 trot at Lexington yesterday, but she was drawn in the third heat. The mare finished seventh and eighth in the two heats she raced. Mr. Jones has several horses at the Blue Grass meeting this week.

R. H. Langford Meets Political Conditions Squarely in Rousing
Speech at Milroy.

VIRILE ORATOR AT 70 YEARS

Nebraskan Spoken Here in Every Campaign in 24 Years—De-
plores Roosevelt Attack.

Richard Langford of Platte, Nebraska, drew a large crowd at Milroy last night where he made a forceful and eloquent plea for the return of President Wm. Howard Taft to the white house. Mr. Langford's speech was devoted to the tariff, the Republican national convention, reciprocity and the political situation in Indiana. Although he is seventy years old, Mr. Langford is just as virile and forceful as one fifty years younger. He keeps astride the times and is well acquainted with the political conditions as they exist today. Mr. Langford left this afternoon for Shelbyville where he will speak tonight.

The Nebraskan is a veteran campaigner, and this year he says he is more in earnest than ever before because the Republican party is attacked from within as well as without. Mr. Langford has been in every presidential campaign for twenty-four years, actively engaged in stumping the country. And incidentally he has made a speech in Rushville in everyone of those campaigns. "And I hope to speak in Rush county every campaign for the next twenty-four years," added Mr. Langford.

The Nebraskan recalls when he made a Republican speech in the court house yard here in the campaign of 1900. He declares that he will never forget that day because it was one of the good old-fashioned rallies with a parade two miles in length.

"Referring to the Bull Moose candidate for governor the speaker said that he had always refrained from attacking any one personally, but occasionally there was a time when it became an imperative duty to lift the curtain so that the people could get a clear view of the startling truths which follow in the wake of both Roosevelt and Beveridge. He branded them as the champion perverters of modern times.

When the veil is drawn aside, the speaker said, and the voters of Indiana look into the charnel house of Beveridge's untruthfulness, hypocrisy, double-dealing, dishonorable practices, intemperate habits and colossal egotism, they will come to the conclusion that he would be a dangerous man for governor of Indiana.

Mr. Langford deplored the act of the mentally unbalanced man who attempted to kill Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee last Monday night, but added that the acts of a maniac should not settle the great issues of this campaign.

In discussing the tariff the speaker stated that he believed in a change and that the Republican party, which never stands still and has been the real progressive party since its birth, believes in a change and has constantly altered tariff laws in order to meet conditions. He referred to the Democratic plank of 1912, which was written by William Jennings Bryan and which is identical word for word with the Democratic tariff plank of 1892, the forerunner of a disastrous panic, hard times and the soup houses of a year later.

"The Democrats say that if Wilson is elected there will be no great change in the tariff," commented Continued on Page 2

REHEARING IS REFUSED

Indiana Supreme Court Today Denies
New Trial in Famous Marshall
Constitution Case.

NO VOTE WILL BE TAKEN NOW

Latest Action Will Probably Close
All Litigation—No Opinion
Rendered.

The Indiana Supreme Court in Indianapolis today denied the petition for a rehearing of attorneys for Governor Marshall and other defendants in the suit to annul the proposed new Indiana Constitution. The denial of the rehearing was accompanied by no opinion. The action of the court precludes a possibility that the proposed law will go on the ballot at the coming election.

The petition for rehearing was filed by the appellants August 31, following a decision from the supreme court, rendered July 5, in which the new Constitution act of 1911 was declared invalid and the decision of Judge Charles Remster, of the Marion county circuit court, enjoining the state board of election commissioners from placing the proposed new law on the ballot for ratification or rejection by the voters, was sustained.

The action of the court today probably marks the close of all litigation in connection with the case. The suit was brought by John T. Dye, as a taxpayer, against Governor Marshall, Lewis G. Ellingham the former members of the state board of election commissioners, to enjoin them from placing the proposition for a new constitution on the ballot for the people to pass on.

ACCIDENT MARS ONE OF ROAD RACES

William Merrill Sustains Painful Injuries While Watching One of Horse Show Events.

RECEIVES BAD CUT ON HEAD

William Merrill, living five and one-half miles southwest of the city, was painfully injured this morning when he stepped in front of a horse which was driven by Ed Schantz in one of the road races held in connection with the horse show in First street. Mr. Merrill sustained a three inch cut on his head and several bruises.

He was watching the race and failed to see Schantz, who was behind the leading horses. The crowd yelled at Mr. Merrill and he became confused. He was brushed to one side and received the cut from a rock in the street or from coming in contact with the curb. Mr. Merrill was first thought to have been badly hurt but an examination showed he was not seriously injured. He was taken to the office of Dr. Logan where two stitches were taken to close the wound. Schantz was in no way to blame for the accident.

CITY WATER TO BE SHUT OFF

Superintendent Plans to Wash Out
The Mains Tonight.

The city water will be turned off for about two hours tonight, beginning at midnight, so that the mains may be washed out. Patrons of the city water plant have noted that the water has been very red and muddy looking for the last few days. Superintendent A. T. Mabin says this is due to the magnesia and iron that has collected in the mains from the water. This is expected to rectify the trouble.

HUMAN SKELETON IS FOUND IN PIT

Workmen Near Blue Ridge Make
Gross Discovery While
Hunting Out Gravel.

A gross discovery was made Thursday in the John King gravel pit near Blue Ridge by Mr. King and several fellow workmen who were hauling gravel on the road, when they unearthed a human skeleton, while loading the wagon, says the Shelbyville Democrat.

The skeleton is thought to be that of an Indian as the bones were very large and resembled those of a muscular brave. Another thing that indicates that the skeleton is that of a red man is that a pipe supposed to have been used by the Indians was unearthed also in the gravel pit.

The find is the second one of its kind unearthed in the past two months, one being unearthed several weeks ago on the George W. Smith farm on Flat Rock river south of Waldron.

In removing the skeleton from the King gravel pit the head was severed from the neck and crumbled to dust. The bones of the arms and legs were fairly well preserved, and after the residents of the community had viewed the skeleton, Mr. King, with the aid of the other men, buried it again.

RALLY AT KNIGHTSTOWN

Republicans Planning For Big Time
There Tomorrow.

The Republicans of Knightstown and vicinity are all set for a big rally there tomorrow. Col Frank B. Posey of Evansville, former congressman, and former Congressman Chaney will speak in the afternoon. At night the address will be delivered by Congressman McKinley of California. He is said to be a gifted orator, one of the most eloquent of California's native sons. He can tell something about the much-mooted California case in the Republican national convention, and the condition that conspired to make it. There will be fireworks and bands and drum corps for the occasion.

WAS FINED ON TWO CHARGES

"Chuck" Bartlett of Near Milroy
Paid Total of $22.

"Chuck" Bartlett of near Milroy was arraigned before Mayor Black this morning and pleaded guilty to two charges—intoxication and hitting a rig in an alley. He was fined one dollar and costs in both cases, the amount being $22, which he paid. Jack Crush, a well known character from near New Salem was fined one dollar and costs for public intoxication but was 'floated' when he promised to leave the city.

DECRIES ATTACK ON RELIGION

Dr Biederwolf Preaches on "Atonement" to One of Largest Week
Night Crowds.

SPECIAL MUSIC APPRECIATED

Doctrine Means Reconciliation of Those Who Have Been Separated— God's Plan.

The Boy Scouts and a delegation of business girls will attend the tabernacle service tonight in a body. Special seats will be reserved for them. Tomorrow night will be factory night at the tabernacle when Dr. Biederwolf will preach a special sermon and a delegation of factory men will attend.

Dr. Biederwolf preached on "Atonement" before one of the largest week night crowds ever in the tabernacle last night. Following the automobile parade many people went to the revival services.

Dr. Biederwolf attacked those who have attempted to discredit the Christian religion. He pointed out that the word means the reconciliation of those who have been separated, and so the atonement of Jesus Christ was God's plan to bring a reconciliation between himself and the sinners of the world. The special musical programs the last two nights have been very much appreciated. The duets by Mr. Heaton and Miss Parshall, and Mr. McEwan and Mr. Heaton were melodious and expressive. And too, Rushville people are only too anxious to have every opportunity possible to hear B. F. Miller.

Dr. Biederwolf's sermon last night in part was as follows:

"I am going to talk to you tonight about the atonement of Jesus Christ, the central doctrine of the Christian faith, the temple of God's religion whose foundation is laid in the eternal purpose of the Father and whose pinnacle flashes in the light of uncreated glory.

"Now what do we mean by the atonement. More theological battles, I think, have been fought around this great truth than all the rest of the Christian doctrines put together. I've got several shelves of books in my library on the atonement, and I've read them all, and studied them and blue pencilled them. I've weighed their explanations and waded through their theorizations, but after all I've never found so easy a way to understand and appreciate the atonement as just to come with an honest mind and open heart to the word of God and read what God has to say about it.

"What does atonement mean? It's a very ancient word, and means 'at-one-ment'; it means the reconciliation of those who have been separated.

"When man denies the Atonement, do you know what he does? He does four things.

"1. He flies in the face of the written word of Almighty God. From Genesis to Revelation, the Atonement runs through like the scarlet thread through all the cordage of the British navy. Take the Atonement out of this blessed Book, and as a resolution of the problem of life its

A meeting of business men will be held in the room in the north-east corner of the tabernacle tonight at seven o'clock preceding the regular service.

ROOSEVELT'S STRENGTH IS FALLING OFF

Washington Republicans Outnumber Democrats and Third Termers Combined.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 28.—In the recent primaries in this state the Progressives cast about 25,000 votes out of a total vote exceeding 300,000, or about eight in every hundred. The Republican vote was greater than that of the Democrats and the Third Termers combined.

S. W. Perkins, Republican national committeeman for Washington, who has been engaged in making a canvass of the political situation in this state, says that he is in receipt of letters from every section indicating a remarkable falling off of Roosevelt's strength. The figures of the primary demonstrate that these letters accurately present popular sentiment.

Mr. Roosevelt claimed the Washington delegation in the Republican National convention in Chicago. The absurdity, not to say dishonesty, of his claim, is proven by the poor showing made by his followers in the recent primary.

A FAILURE IN COLORADO

Why the Roosevelt Movement Has Failed to Materialize.

"The Roosevelt movement is a failure in Colorado," said David Heaton of Salida, Colo., during a recent visit to Chicago, while discussing the political situation in his state. He is president and general manager of the Federal Consolidated Monumental Granite company, and is also identified with large mining interests.

"We are tired of industrial and political pyrotechnics in Colorado," he continued. "We have been through all sorts of disturbances in our state. We have seen what were called 'dynamite days.' We have had our wild and woolly experiences and we have known what it is to deal with strikes and strikers. Mr. Roosevelt is now a dangerous type of political striker, doing nothing but raising trouble. We do not want a man of his temperament in the White House. We prefer to support President Taft."

Roosevelt a Frost in Oregon. A. V. Spalding, a widely known contracting engineer of Portland, Ore., while on his way east from Portland, reports that the Roosevelt tour through Washington, Oregon and the Pacific coast states was a frost.

A letter received at the Taft headquarters from Edward D. Baldwin, secretary of the Oregon state central committee, says:

"Things are looking better here every day for Taft. The lukewarm reception given Roosevelt in Portland the other day has given courage to our people."

Decreasing in Iowa.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 29.—James H. Tremin and Luther A. Brewer of this state, officers of the Iowa League of Taft Clubs, who have been assisting in the organization of Republicans in the state, have received reports from every county showing the decrease of Roosevelt sentiment, and assert that the Republican strength of the state is crystallizing around President Taft.

W. D. HEYBURN

Senator From Idaho Dead at Washington.

THE SENATE LOSES AGGRESSIVE LEADER

Senator Heyburn Succumbs to Long Illness.

Washington, Oct. 18.—At his apartment in the Wyoming here last night, Weldon Brinton Heyburn, United States senator from Idaho, died. The senator had been suffering for several months from heart trouble, and grave concern had been expressed over his condition for a week or more.

Senator Heyburn had the reputation of being one of the hardest working and also, on occasion, one of the most stubborn men in congress. He was born in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, May 23, 1852. His parents were Quakers. He was admitted to the bar in 1876. From the day of his appearance in congress he earned the reputation of being a virile, also able speaker.

Senator Heyburn's term would not have expired until March 3, 1915, and his death throws another senatorship open. This makes a total of 34 seats in the senate that will be at stake in the November election.

SHUT HIM UP

Schenectady's Mayor Not Permitted to Address Mill Strikers.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 18.—George R. Lunn, Socialist mayor of Schenectady, and his co-workers from that city are languishing in cells in the Herkimer county jail following their arrest in Little Falls on a charge of rioting. Mayor Lunn and a number of other Socialist orators attempted to address groups of striking employees of the Phoenix mills in Little Falls, in defiance of the ordinance which prohibits the delivering of speeches in the public streets without a permit, and Sheriff Moon and several of his deputies swooped down on the agitators, catching eight in their net. Mayor Lunn and his companions were held in $1,000 bail each. They refused to furnish bond and were removed to the county jail. This is the second time Mayor Lunn has been arrested for attempting to address the Little Falls strikers. The latest raid by the sheriff's deputies occurred during a recess in the trial of Robert Bakaman, the former Schenectady clergyman, who has been arrested five times in the past three days for attempting to address the mill strikers.

THE COLONEL IS KEEN FOR FRAY

Roosevelt Restive Under Unaccustomed Restraint.

CONDITION DAILY IMPROVING

Hospital Surgeons at Chicago Express Belief That Their Patient May Be Allowed to Return to Oyster Bay Next Week Unless Wholly Unexpected Complications Should Interfere—Colonel Issues a Statement.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The surgeons in attendance upon Colonel Roosevelt at Mercy hospital say he is gaining steadily and believe that he is upon the highroad to recovery, unless complications set in. "The colonel is resting well and reacting rapidly to his normal temperament, and we are all much pleased with his condition," is the way Chief Surgeon John B. Murphy put it.

The crucial period is expected to be reached tonight. If no trace of septic poisoning develops by that time the doctors say it will be a case of marking time during the tedious period of the wound healing, and that in a week's time at least it will be possible to move the colonel to his home in Oyster Bay.

The steady improvement of the colonel is attributed in part to the firm manner of Mrs. Roosevelt in taking charge of the sick room. With the load of anxiety caused by a belief that the bulletins of the surgeons were holding something back removed from her mind, Mrs. Roosevelt took full charge of the sick room and ruled the colonel with an iron hand, limiting his callers to the members of the family circle and a few others. Not for some time did the colonel become aware of the fact that his wife was acting as intermediary. He then expostulated mildly because he was not given an opportunity to say anything about it, by saying: "This fight for the rule of the people is all a sham. Here I am a victim of machine rule myself."

But the protest was without avail. The colonel is confident that ten days' time will see him taking part in the campaign again. A program of quiet and rest will be the order for the colonel. Probably his only guest aside from the members of his family will be his running mate, Governor Hiram Johnson. Governor Johnson is scheduled to make a speech in Chicago tonight, and will have an interview with the colonel.

Colonel Makes a Statement.

Colonel Roosevelt has issued a signed statement, the first since the attack on him in Milwaukee. In his perusal of the newspapers his attention was attracted to the Franklin (Ind.) speech of Colonel W. J. Bryan. He summoned a stenographer and made reply to Mr. Bryan as follows: "I wish to express my cordial agreement with the manly and proper attitude of Mr. Bryan at Franklin, Ind., when, in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of the issues at stake in this contest he said:

"The issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin. Neither Colonel Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion should be turned away from the principles that are involved. If he is elected president it should be because of what he has done in the past and what he proposes to do hereafter."

"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on precisely as if I had not been shot. I shall be sorry if Mr. Wilson does not keep on the stump and I feel that he owes it to himself and the American people to continue on the stump."

"So far as my opponents are concerned, whatever could with truth and propriety have been said against me and my cause before I was shot can with equal truth and equal propriety be said against me now and it should be so said; and the things that cannot be said now are merely the things that ought not to have been said before. This is not a contest about any man; it is a contest concerning principles."

"If my broken rib heals fast enough to relieve my breathing I shall hope to be able to make one or two speeches yet in this campaign. In any event, if I am not able to make them, hundreds will be stating our case to the end of the campaign, and I trust our opponents will be stating their case also."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 20.

MISSION TO THE GENTILES.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:24-30 and Matthew 8:5-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."—John 6:37.

Chronologically the incident of the centurions servant precedes that of the Syrophenician woman, though we will look at them in the order suggested. The one incident occurs near the border of Tyre and Sidon, probably about May or June, A. D. 29, and the other in Capernaum during the summer of A. D. 28. Both are incidents in the life of Jesus that have to do with his ministry as the Hebrew Messiah to those who were outside of the pale of Judaism.

At the beginning of Mark's record (v. 24) we have a wonderful suggestion as to the strain of Jesus, ministry and the accompanying lesson that true righteousness cannot be hid, it speaks for itself.

There are four uses of the word "answered" in Matthew's record of this incident (Matt. 15:21-28) that are suggestive. Let us first, however, get the setting. This woman was a Greek—a Gentile; by race she was a Syrophenician, that is, a Canaanite. Thus she was a descendant of that race whom God, by the hand of Joshua, had driven out to make room for the Hebrew nation, and as such is under the ban of God. See Eph. 2:12. Yet this woman reaches Jesus, her trouble being that her daughter is possessed by an unclean spirit. At her approach she takes a lowly place at Jesus' feet and requests that he heal the child. She calls him the "Son of David," and "He answered her not a word." Matt. 15:23. She had no claim upon him as the Messiah. This was the wrong footing, for she was not a child of the kingdom. It was her need that drove her to him. How she had heard of him is suggested in Mark 3:8 and 7:24, of Rom. 10:17. There are some questions that silence will not answer. A wrong conclusion will be reached, as in this case the disciples came to a wrong conclusion and desired to "send her away." Contrast Jesus' patience with the disciples' impatience, "she crieth after us" and emphasize the danger of external judgment. There are many great moral issues today that are demanding another answer than that of silence.

The Answer of Law.

Jesus then made a second answer, the answer of law, Matthew 15:24, in which he accepts her estimate of him as the Jewish Messiah. His work was primarily to the Jews (John 1:11, 12). But her need was great, and identifying herself with the need of the child she "worshipped" Jesus. He is more than the Messiah, he is a Saviour. Not yet, however, is Jesus ready to grant her request. His third answer (v. 25), the answer of mercy, is literally that first the children must be fed, and she replied, "Yea, Lord; even the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs." For this saying, viz., that she did not protest against the words he had spoken, but accepted the proper estimate of him as being the Jewish Messiah and herself as outside of that covenant, he made a fourth answer, the answer to faith. He answered: "O, woman, great is thy faith," v. 28, and grants her carte blanc (v. 28), "be it unto thee even as thou wilt." As outcasts, we must cast ourselves "at his feet."

Let us now look at the account of the centurion's servant. Once more Jesus is appealed to by one who is outside the Hebrew covenant and on behalf of a servant. In the other incident there was the interruption of a seeming refusal and here the interruption of an instantaneous granting of the request. Again we need to read the parallel accounts given by the other evangelists. Verse ten of this section is the key to this whole story. What are some of the marks of a "great faith?" First, it is tested. The servant was "dear unto the centurion," Luke 7:2. Second, it is progressive "when he heard of Jesus," Luke 7:3. Third, it will be recognized by others, Luke 7:4.

The Great Faith.

The protest in v. 9, and the remarkable commendation of Jesus thereon, is a solemn warning to all who are in covenant relations with God and his Son whom he has sent. Jesus had there a glimpse of that great coming day when all Gentiles would be gathered unto him, v. 11 (cf. Rev. 7:9). The centurion received for his faith commendation, and healing for his servant as well, v. 13.

Why should there be such a difference in the treatment of these two when we read of each that they had great faith?—Matthew 15:28 and 8:10. The difference can be explained only by the fact that the Master knew all the facts about both and he adopted such tactics for each as were best suited to the case. This impresses us with the truth that personal work cannot be done by any rule of thumb; indeed, the Master seems seldom to have used the same method twice. Is there then no common factor in these two incidents? The yielding of faith always gains that which is sought.

Mission to the Gentiles. Mark vii:24-30; Matt. viii:5-13.

Golden Text—He that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. John vi:37.

(1.) Verses 24—Where were "the borders of Tyre and Sidon," to which Jesus had come, and what probably had induced him to come here?

(2.) Why did Jesus want to hide himself?

(3.) What evidence is there that Jesus did not run recklessly into danger and that he taught his disciples in harmony with his practice?

(4.) Is it cowardly or brave and wise to run from danger when our hurt would injure the cause for which we stand?

(5.) Verses 25-26—What difference is there, if any, between the natural heart hunger for God of an educated heathen and of an educated Christian?

(6.) What are the reasons for believing that God has always loved the people of other nations as well as he has loved the Jews?

(7.) In which are normal parents more interested, themselves or their children? Give your reasons.

(8.) Will Christ today spurn any that come to him for help, whether white or black, bad or good? Why? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(9.) Verse 27—Why did Jesus give this harsh answer to the agonizing request of this woman?

(10.) What was the literal meaning of these figurative words of Jesus?

(11.) Why is it that God often permits providence to frown upon us and that our prayers for good things remain so long unanswered?

(12.) Which process develops the more sturdy character, to get all one wants with little or no effort or to be compelled to wait and work and suffer in order to obtain necessary things?

(13.) Verses 28-29—How do you account for this woman's wisdom and great faith?

(14.) What spirit upon the whole did this woman show?

(15.) Why does humility become us all in our approaches to God?

(16.) Verse 30—If we persevere in our prayers and are not discouraged may we rest with perfect assurance that they will finally be answered? Why?

(17.) When our prayers are answered are the results generally below or above our expectation? Give your reasons.

(18.) Matt. viii:5-7—Who was this man and what was a centurion?

(19.) What would you say was the religious character of this man?

(20.) Is there enough light in every nation, whether they have the Bible or not, so that men may find their way to God? Why?

(21.) Verses 8-9—What is the relation between humility and faith?

(22.) If God by speaking a word can heal all the sick and give comfort to all in trouble why does he not do so?

(23.) Verses 10-13—Is great faith under our own control? Why?

(24.) What is the reward for great faith?

(25.) What is the punishment for lack of faith?

(26.) Is our faith for specific things always honored or are we at times disappointed? Why?

Lesson for Sunday, Oct. 27, 1912. Wanderings In Decapolis. Mark vii:31-viii:10.

Emperor Constantine's Edict.

The celebration of the 1600th anniversary of Constantine's victory at Milvian Bridge and the promulgation of the Edict of Milan, which gave legal recognition to Christianity, will be made the occasion of imposing pilgrimages to Rome. The bishops of the entire Roman communion have been invited to participate in fetes that are being prepared for on a large scale by a local Roman committee. The success of the celebration seems already assured. The program will be marked by a series of religious ceremonies to take place in the various basilicas and catacombs. A large extent of ground is to be bought outside the Porto del Popolo, near the Milvian Bridge, and on it will be erected a new basilica commemorating the victory of the Cross. The city has been rapidly building up in this direction of late years and the new basilica will serve as a parish church for this new neighborhood.—The Churchman.

NO IDLERS IN CANAL ZONE

That Busy Community Is Said to be the Most Orderly in the World.

In all this wide, wide world the most orderly community is that of the Panama canal zone, writes Mary Gay Humphreys in Scribner's. Here is the least crime; here are the fewest misdemeanors, the least exercise of the functions of the courts, the most industrious, the fewest idlers, absolutely no poor, equally conspicuous the absence of the rich.

With its steam shovels working like sentient beings, its locomotives rushing about like screaming busybodies, its cement buckets skimming over the earth and riding the air to perform their varied tasks, with the long dirt trains weaving and turning on their tortuous tracks like pythons, still the most persistent impression is of beauty, orderliness and propriety.

The greatest public work the world has ever seen is carried on not only with unremitting diligence, enthusiasm and honesty, but with elegance, a high standard of living and a morale to which the oldest and most opulent cities have never attained.

These are the words of truth and soberness. The problems of the engineer are greater than man has ever before encountered, but in kind. The cubic yards of dirt and cement transcend experience, but only in bulk. It is the organization that is without precedent in the whole history of public works—it is this that is the eighth wonder of the world.

In this organization there is no detail so minute not to have received attention; from the most puzzling problems in engineering to the American youth's love of ice cream nothing seems to have been left unconsidered. This elaboration of detail has doubtless been gradual, but to the visitor coming upon its completeness today the impression is staggering and not unmixed with envy.

But That Was Long Ago. Hewitt—Times have changed. Jewett—Right you are; I remember when a pedestrian had an even chance for his life when he tried to cross the street.

Prosperity and Pay.

Roosevelt, Beveridge, and all the minor moozers are doing much talking about getting more prosperity into the pay envelope. But HOW they are going to do it does not appear from their speeches. Surely they cannot do it simply by using the dictionary. Hot air pressure will certainly be insufficient to induce the millennium. Never a party came before the people promising more specific things, and proposing fewer specific ways of bringing those things to pass. "Social justice" is a fine mouth full. But what does it mean, so far as Perkins, Bev. Teddy and Bill Flinn are concerned? If Perkins will not permit social justice to be done to the workers employed in the plants of the Harvest-trust, how can he be expected to furnish it through the vague generalities of a foggy platform. If Bill Flinn's Pittsburg plan for promoting social justice is a protected vice district, and a profitable slop contract, how do we know his real Washington plan will be any better? The bull moose bosses are like the backwoods doctor who was said by one of his patients as being "powerful good at telling yeh how sick yeh air, but danged poor at curin' yeh"

Protection encourages manufacturing in the manufacturing sections of the country are $275.00 per capita, in the non-manufacturing sections only $86.00 per capita. We should encourage more manufacturing, rather than give up part of what we have in favor of the foreigner.

Why will the Democrats claim that the tariff has caused the advance in prices, when any common sense man knows that the biggest single factor has been the exhaustion of the free lands. The price of land in Minnesota, Iowa, and similar States has risen 149% in ten years, and a rise in cost of the products of such land is simply inevitable.

The Democratic party has always been hostile to the merit system in government. It enunciated and has consistently favored the doctrine, "To the victor belongs the spoils." A hungry horde of office seekers is eagerly hoping for Democratic success. Efficiency, of course, is a side issue.

The cost of living has advanced 150% in China during ten years, so that something besides the American tariff has been at work on it.

The production of beet sugar increased from 1897 to 1911 from 27,500 to 455,000 tons. All this big industry would be wiped out if the Democrats carried through their proposition for free sugar.

About now the woman's column of some of our carefully edited contemporaries produces receipts for making strawberry short cake.

Some of these magmats of railroads that have been killing scores of people think they will have to get together one of these days with a good dinner and talk it over.

It is better for this country to keep our own labor busy by buying American products than to send our money abroad to help keep the foreign laborer busy.

The railroads are trying to sell tickets to the hunting grounds by dwelling on the prevalence of deer, but what the hunter wants to know is whether the covers are well stocked with guides.

The hum of the factory makes votes for Taft. Both workers and owners voting in unison to keep the wheels whirling.

Sam Sanderson Says:

That there comes a time in every man's life when even a rainy day won't bring gloom.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

PRIZE BONE-HEADS.

(Kokomo Tribune.)
The managers of the Progressive party at Indianapolis will take rank as the prize bone-heads of the campaign. Tuesday morning when they learned of the deplorable assault on the life of Theodore Roosevelt they started out immediately to try to manufacture campaign thunder from the regrettable event. They hired majestic theater and sent wagons and bands out on the streets all day long to advertise what they said would be an indignation meeting. The ill advised meeting turned out to be a miserable farce, there not being more than five or six hundred present, and the proceedings were a dismal and ghastly failure. The wretch who shot Colonel Roosevelt is a miserable, irresponsible madman. His act is deplored by all right minded people. Nobody who is fit to be outside of a penitentiary can feel anything but horror at such a deed. But campaign managers who seize upon a happening and try to make campaign capital out of it are not far from as despicable as the dastard who committed the act. An indignation meeting to include all who deplore this crime would need include almost the entire population. The reason not more than five or six hundred people attended the Indianapolis meeting is that all the rest of the people discovered the unworthy purpose of the gathering and very properly absented themselves from it.

FALLS OVER GUY ROPE

Margaret Morton's Arm Broken—
Didn't Know it For Days.

Mrs. Margaret Morton, a teacher in the Milroy schools and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hiner of this city, carried a broken bone in one arm for several days and never knew it. She tripped over a guy rope on the merry-go-round tent during the Milroy fall festival and fell, suffering a painful injury to her arm. She thought nothing of the incident until the pain grew worse day by day, and she consulted a physician and learned a bone was broken. Eventually she was compelled to quit teaching for a few days.

FOR ASSAULTING HIS WIFE

Sam Kinnett of Milroy May Have to Stand Trial Here.

Sam Kinnett, the Milroy liveryman, was arrested yesterday at Milroy for assault and battery on his wife. Kinnett was said to be intoxicated at the time. He was arraigned in Squire Richey's court, entered a plea of not guilty and gave bond for his appearance. Deputy Prosecutor Wallace Morgan was called to Milroy by Squire Richey. If the case is tried, it will be done because of the persistence of Mrs. Kinnett to prosecute her husband. An effort is being made to have them patch up their differences. Kinnett wanted a change of venue, and the case will be heard here if it comes to trial. The Kinnetts have been married almost two years.

Bryan's Tribute to Taft.

William Jennings Bryan, in a recent speech, made this statement. "More reforms have taken place under Taft's administration than during that of any other president in recent years."

Editorialettes.

Thief stole Governor Marshall's overcoat yesterday. Evidently didn't see that new constitution lying around or he would have taken that too.

That is he might, if he had thought it worth his while. Before he entered, he probably read the supreme court decision saying it was no account.

Some scientist has it doped out that the average American wastes fifteen years of his life, ten years of which, we presume, goes out during campaigns.

There may be at least one good result from the war in the Balkans. It may raise the price on Turkish cigarettes.

It was thoughtful of the Governor to put the insane colony in Wayne county.

No wonder the last winter was a hard one, considering this in light of the fact that the world in some way managed to get away with eight billion gallons of beer the year before.

The controversy as to the merits of the I. W. W. organization amounts to the question whether the initials stand for "I Will Work" or "I Won't Work."

ANOTHER SUIT OVER ROAD

Phil Wink and Will Redman Ask
$2000 Damages.

Another law suit growing out of the awarding of the Norman Apple road by the commissioners to Wink & Co., was filed yesterday. The suit was filed by Phil Wink and Will Redman against William Emsweller, Jefferson C. Davis, William H. Cherry and Frank Moore, on Emsweller's injunction bond and the demand is $2000. The last three named are Emsweller's bondsmen. The plaintiff allege that they were delayed from starting work on the road by the restraining order and asks $1500 damages and $500 attorney fees.

"2. He denies the testimony of the world's history. You try to write history and leave out Jesus Christ as the atoning Son of God and see where you come out. Hume tried it, and so did Gibbon, and they couldn't account for the world's mighty strides of civilization.

"Some old wind jamming skeptic comes along and proceeds to rip up the Scriptural doctrine of the Atonement, and I say 'Old Skeptic, what else has ever charmed the drunkard from his cup, or wooed the gambler from his cards, made the libertine pure and the thief an honest man?' And I say, 'until you can trot out something better than Christianity, something that will make me a pure, holy man and keep me that way, that will do for this sin cursed world what the Gospel of Jesus Christ has done for it. I'm not going to espouse your hell born doctrine, but I'm going to nail my hopes on the cross of Christ where mother nailed hers and where millions of others, the brainiest and best of the world have done the same thing.

3. He converts the testimony of the universal instinct of human soul. Expiation through vicarious sacrifice runs like a golden cord through all history, all poetry, all prose and song; you can see it in Thor's hammer, in Branna's wounded foot, in the cry of Prometheus bound, and everywhere.

"4. He lies in the face of all reason and sense. Now let me say this, I know the infidel arguments that are put up against the doctrine of the atonement of common sense and reason.

I say, Mr. Infidel, what are your objections to the atonement?

"1. Well," he says, "It wasn't necessary. What's the need of Christ suffering? If God is love and full of goodness, why can't a man just confess his wrong and be forgiven, just as an earthly father forgives his child without demanding satisfaction as the payment of a penalty?"

"God," he says, "ought to be as merciful as man." Well, you talk nonsense when you talk like that.

"Why can't God forgive like an earthly parent? for three reasons. 1. If he were nothing more than a father, He's got a mighty big family and he must deal with each member of it in a way to protect them all.

"2. He's more than a Father. He's a moral governor and He's got to have concern for the rectitude of His government. The interest of the universe is at stake.

"Suppose you set up an earthly court on that principle and all hell would turn loose on the state.

"3. God is a righteous and a holy being as well as a loving one, and He's got to act in harmony with all the essential attributes of His divine character. And the Atonement instead of belittling the mercy of God, magnifies it, because what in His righteousness and justice He exacts, in His fatherly love He provides. You've got to keep the whole character of God in mind in dealing with these questions.

"2. Well," says the infidel again. "I don't believe in the innocent suffering for the guilty." You don't! Well, then you don't believe in the great law of life. Men have always suffered for others, and it's the innocent that usually suffer most.

"Look at the old mother bathing her pillow with tears while she prays and waits for the home coming of her good for nothing drunken bum of a son. Who suffers most? She don't have to suffer; she could kick him out, but she doesn't.

"3. 'Well,' but says the old infidel again, 'I can't see how the suffering of Christ can expiate guilty man's sin, so God can let him go free. I don't believe in substitution.'

"Yes, you say you don't believe in it, and yet it don't offend your sense of justice very much when you see it take place in human affairs. I might tell you it's God's business and not yours, but I won't.

"Now listen to me, and I'll help you to see it if you've got anything to see it with. But don't flaunt your little persimmon intellect in the face of God because there are divine depths that human plummets can not sound.

"When a rebellious sinner shakes his puny fist in the face of God and goes about in his sin, smashing the divine law right and left, he brings God up against a serious problem. God could annihilate you in a second if he wanted to. But He don't. He ought to. There are people here tonight and you ought to be in hell, the way you are treating God. We'd all be there if it wasn't for His love. And so love searched the depths of infinite wisdom for some plan by which four things could come to pass.

"First. That the guilty sinner might be spared.

"Second. That he might have his heart broken and become good.

"Third. That the principle of justice in God's essential nature should be honored.

"Fourth. That his holy law should be vindicated and His moral government honored and upheld.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess offers a Selig drama "The Boob" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be an extraordinary good picture. The other is a Biograph farce comedy entitled "The Tourists."

The Palace will show another of the famous 101 Ranch pictures tonight. It is entitled "The Memories of a Pioneer." It is a thrilling picture and is the equal of the other 101 pictures that have always pleased here. "Fanchon, the Cricket," is a feature Imp subject, featuring King Daggott.

The Portola has a three reel feature program tonight. "The Man Hunt" is a two reel Pathe subject. The other is a Vitagraph "Too Much Wooing of Handsome Dan." Paul Williams will be at the piano.

Red Cross Ball Blue will wash double as many clothes as any other blue. Don't put your money into any other.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Root will entertain at their home south of the city tomorrow evening, celebrating their second wedding anniversary.

Mrs. May W. Donnan's study-class will meet Saturday afternoon at half past two. The subject of Mrs. Donnan's lecture will be Shakespeare's Sonnets and the Bible in Shakespeare. Mrs. Donnan's presentation of current thought and its manifold expressions in literary form, her always timely book reviews display some real discoveries that furnish inspiring reading matter for one's spare moments.

Mrs. Lillie Kuth is now settled in her beautiful new bungalow on Riverside Drive, near North Main street, says a Piquette, O., newspaper. The bungalow is a copy of a California bungalow. The interior has five rooms, a reception hall and bath. The home is in perfect taste throughout. The living room and dining room are in mission wood. The others are in white enamel, one in sky-blue and another in old rose. The dado in living room is green satin imported cloth and in the dining room the walls are covered with cloth in imitation of leather. The rugs and draperies were ordered from New York to match. The home is one of the prettiest bungalows in Piquette. Mrs. Kuth has for her house guest Mrs. Panthea Smiley, of Rushville, Ind., who has quite a reputation as a whistler and has appeared in Chautauqua concerts and private parlors. She is her own accompanist. Her whistling is wonderful.

YOUNG MEN COME NEXT

They Will be Entertained at Noon Lunch Next Week.

Yesterday seventy-eight girls ate together at their lunch room in Main street. Solos were sung by Miss Edith Holden and Don Cochran, and Miss Parsall, who has been giving a series of talks on Bible Arithmetic, spoke on "Profit and Loss." The Baptist church ladies furnished the dainty lunch today, the girls listened to a delightful talk by E. C. Miller.

Next week the young men are to be entertained on Wednesday and Thursday at the noon hour, and young women on Tuesday and Friday. The ladies of the Christian and Methodist churches will be the hostesses.

TO BE BURIED HERE.

Mrs. Anna E. Carr, formerly of this city, died at the home of her son H. C. Carr in Chicago yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The body will arrive here at 5:28 a. m. tomorrow over the C. H. & D. and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery on the same day. Mrs. Carr is extensively related and had many friends here.

The Women's Candidate

By BYRON WILLIAMS

CHAPTER I.

You have felt the thrill of the chase? Your pulses have leaped like an arrow at the yip, yip of the dogs in close pursuit? You have dashed madly over fences, taking the hurdles without regard to personal danger as the prey suddenly sprang from its covert and whisked swiftly into the hazel brush ahead? You—but wait!

Fancy! Did you ever behold ten pretty, vivacious little-limbed young women chasing a handsome man—a perfect stranger—through a dogwood swamp, their dresses swirling high above pretty ankles, their baying, shrieks of hysterical laughter?

"Catch him! Catch him!" shrieked a slender blonde to the leading lady running ahead with an athletic stride, her head and shoulders back, her hair rippling in the wind.

"Get him, Jackie!" panted a raven-haired brunette, close behind. "Darn these narrow skirts, anyhow. I'd like to be a man long enough to wear."

"Oh, gee—this is—too—much for me!" and a solidly built blonde with a retroussé nose and a red sweater toppled onto a bed of moss under a thornapple tree and gasped for breath that persisted in cross-circuiting a chorus of chortles struggling for freedom.

"E-Yip-I-Addy-I-Ay-I-Ay!"

"Run, girls, run!"

"Go it!"

"Hot foot!"

"Whoo—p!"

A startled rabbit, aroused from his breakfast of alder shoots, sat up in mazy bewilderment, took one hasty glance and bounded away into the marsh grasses, his funny little tail bobbing through the squashy places like a meteor of down.

Ahead the man was running freely, taking an occasional swift glance over his shoulder at the foremost of the foe. One by one the pursuers were falling by the way, their laughter becoming more and more distant. Suddenly the man swerved behind a great ash along the trail and waited. Through the brush behind he heard the leader coming like a wood nymph, light and airy.

The man crouched. She was upon him now. Agitely he sprang from his hiding place and opened his arms!

With a gurgle of surprise, her cheeks as flaming red as the Oriental poppy on a sunny morning, she collided with his manly breast. Before she could free herself, the man's lips were at hers, sipping the honey with an ecstasy of delight!

"Oh!" she gasped, struggling.

"Were you looking for me?" asked the man, taking toll again and holding her close.

"But—" she cried. "But—" between kisses. And then with one free hand

DOES BACKACHE WORRY YOU?

she boxed him soundly on the ear. He let her go instantly, rubbing his head regretfully.

She stood staring at him, her laughter given way to anger.

"Sir!" her eyes blazing. "How dare you?"

"Never mind," said the man humbly, "I'll take it back!" coming nearer and reaching for her slim waist.

Some lame philosopher has said that a woman with a sense of humor has never been born. In refutation, the girl suddenly broke forth into

"How Dare You, Sir?"

peals of laughter, backing away from him until she leaned against a tree trunk for support.

The man kept his eyes on her.

"Anyhow," he said finally, "I like the game. Who invented it?"

Coming closer, he reached forth his hand and touched her lightly on the arm.

"Tag!" he cried, and started to run.

The girl sat down unceremoniously in a tangle of grape vines.

"I had my fingers crossed!" she protested—and the man came back, disappointedly.

"I'll wait until they cramp," he said determinedly, crouching at a respectable distance.

"There ain't a goin' to be any core!" nodding her golden head positively and striving to keep back the blushes.

The man seemed saddened.

"Listen," she said soberly. "If I expected ever to see you again, I'd be mortified to death. But I don't, and I'm going to make a clean breast of it, because," with maidenly modesty, "it served me right!"

He waited patiently, nodding by way of approbation.

"You're the first man that's come up to this forest primeval in five weeks. We were hunting for moccasin flowers when we caught sight of you."

"Girls! there's a man!" shouted Bess Winters—and in a spirit of mischief we set out after you. It was only a flash of feminine devilry, that would have died out at once—but when you ran—well, it was so funny we ran after you. I'm something of a sprinter and I—I got in the lead—and I—didn't expect you would—would—"

The man grinned.

"A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush!" he quoted. "I thought you'd beat 'em—and I—but I hear voices. Shall we run away?" enticingly.

"By all means, no," she replied severely.

"Very well, then, I surrender—to you."

The girl shook her head.

"I don't want you."

"What, after chasing me across that confounded swamp!" looking meaningly at her wet and bedraggled skirt.

She reddened.

"It is a woman's privilege to reject—even after she has chased a man to cover."

"And you stand on your rights?" earnestly, but with mirth in his eyes.

"I do!" positively.

"Why?" he persisted.

"Because!"

He bowed profoundly.

"Before woman's final and always conclusive reason I seem to accept the inevitable—but do not be deceived, fair lady, things are not always what they seem," quoting. "I have caught you fairly on the first lap. I, too, shall stand on my rights—the rules of the game!"

"Oh, here they are. Come on, girls!" cried an eager voice.

On a one nine warm, giggling summer girls came into view, ranging a galaxy of beauty beneath the green trees.

"Did you catch him, Jackie?" cooed the brunette. "Did you?"

The golden haired one dropped her eyes.

"She has—er, she did!" said the man, speaking for her. "Is this the pack?"

"Who are you, sir, that dares call us dogs?" demanded a red-tipped blonde with hair like flax.

"I am the fox!" replied the man.

He arose to his feet and put his thumbs into the armpits of his vest, a habit he had, facing them mockingly.

"Look!" screamed the short one, "he is an officer!"

Jackie started.

With a deft movement the brunette reached forth and laid back the lapel of his coat, peering at a tiny gold star, engraved.

"Oh, girls," she cried dramatically, a ring of mischief in her voice, "look who's here; HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR!"

CHAPTER II.

"The jury will arise and be sworn!" "Jackie" Vining, the judge, waited impatiently.

"What's the matter with you, girls? Mabel, Lucile—don't you know you're jurymen—er, on the jury. Stand up! There!" with satisfaction. "Now raise your hands—no, no; your right hands! That's better. You solemnly swear, cross your hearts, hope-to-die, you will carefully weigh the evidence in this case and render a verdict according to the statutes—er, according to what you think this wretch deserves?" maliciously.

Six pretty heads nodded, in unison.

"Be seated," said the judge sternly.

"His honor, the mayor," sat on a soap box in the center of the front veranda, a mere man in the hands of the enemy, waiting his fate and trying to look unhappy.

"What's the charge," demanded Alice Mason, appointed by the court to defend the prisoner.

The judge moved uneasily in her chair. Then, in a low, cutting tone she said:

"He's a thief!"

The mayor looked up apprehensively.

"I object," he protested, "to the court's statement of the case. It is irregular in—"

"Order in the court!" interrupted the judge. "Who's running this case?"

The man lowered his eyes, accepting the inevitable.

"This defendant," began Jackie, "is a thief. He stole a kiss from—from a perfectly proper young woman who had never been kissed except by—by—well, by those who had a perfect right. I might say that he not only stole one but—I believe it was several the young lady claims he stole. He not only is a thief, but—"

"Whom did he kiss?" We demand to know who the victim was?" cried the culprit's lawyer, vindictively.

"Overruled!" snapped the judge.

The mayor sighed. Things looked black enough.

"Your honor," he said apprehensively, addressing the court, "I appeal for a change of venue. I have reason to believe that the judge is prejudiced against me. I—"

Judge Vining pierced him with a glance.

"The ideal!" she cried, with asperity. "Sit down, sir."

"Well, anyhow, it was worth it!" he shot back, resentfully.

The judge blushed as she opened the hotel cook book and searched ostensibly for the criminal act relative to kissing against woman's will.

"Call the first witness!" ordered the court.

Pretty Molly McConnell, her raven-crowned head held at a serious angle, her dimples set in a solemn background, took the stand.

"It was barely sun-up this morning," she said, quietly, "when we set out across the meadows after lady-slippers. Aurora was taking her matutinal bath in dew as we trudged

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; .Re-

move Them With the New Drug.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine-double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any leading druggists under absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishes entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask any first class druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money back guarantee.

HOW TO RESIST

Chronic Coughs and Colds.

Strong, vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold; it's only when the system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your run-down condition again?

Mrs. Olivia Parham of East Durham, N. C., says: "I took Vinol for a chronic cough which had lasted two years and the cough not only disappeared, but it built up my strength as well."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medical curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building iron added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run-down system.

You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say. J. B. Johnson & Co., druggists, Rushville.

P. S. For itching, burning skin try our Saxon Salve. We guarantee it.

PRaise for Mr. Taft

EDITORIAL COMMENDATION OF HIS CHARACTER, HIS ACHIEVEMENTS AND HIS WISDOM.

ALL SECTIONS REPRESENTED

The President Eulogized Because He is Wise, Honorable, Dignified, Courageous and Safe and His Triumphant Re-election is Predicted.

From every section of the country comes editorial commendation of President Taft and of his administration. Quite a number of papers which, until recently, had remained independent, have, like the Clinton, Ill., Journal, declared their conviction that only the continuance of present policies will ensure the stability and prosperity of the agricultural, industrial and financial interest of the nation.

The president is receiving credit for his courageous vetoes of free trade tariff bills, for his efforts to secure economical administration of the government and for his success in improving social conditions through recommending and forcefully advocating legislation. A page could well be filled with extracts from editorial columns praising the president, but the following must suffice:

Friend of Old Soldiers.

From the Clay Center, Kan., Republican. The old soldier vote should help to elect its friend, William Howard Taft, signer of the Sherwood Pension bill, and son of Grant's secretary of war.

Where Mr. Taft Stands.

From the Wausau Record-Herald. Taft stands exactly where either of the great martyr presidents would have stood had they lived in his day and occupied his place. He stands for the constitution, for the courts, for the perpetuation of the tried and proved American institutions, for the principle of protection to American labor, just laws and their impartial enforcement against rich and poor, high and low, alike. No president ever had higher ideals, better comprehension of the intricacies of government, or more courage in presenting his convictions to the public.

Now Outspoken for Taft.

From the Clinton, Ill., Journal. As the Journal up to this point in the campaign has exercised its prerogative of expressing disinterested comment upon issues and candidates, so now, as an independent newspaper, it feels that the time is at hand and the opportunity is ripe to declare its policy on the issues of the day. From now on until November 5, therefore, the Journal will contribute its efforts to the success of the principles of the Republican platform, and the re-election of William Howard Taft to the presidency. It is convinced that only the continuance of present policies will insure the stability and prosperity of the agricultural, industrial and financial interests of the nation, and it trembles for the future at the thought of the havoc and ruin which the success either of the Democratic party or of the misnamed "Progressive" party would mean.

Safe and Sound.

From the Cassville, Mo., Republican. The country has a man in the presidential chair who can be relied upon to uphold the principles of protection and the other doctrines of the platform on which he was elected. Mr. Taft is standing courageously for the principles in which he and his party believe. Four more years of his administration offers safe and sound protection to labor and to capital.

Dignified and Positive.

From the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Press. Compare the dignity, the tact, and the positive stand taken by Mr. Taft with the bombastic acts and utterances of his predecessor, and see which measures up to the standard of a president and who has accomplished most for the country.

Has Done Much for Labor.

From the Bluefield, W. Va., Telegraph. The Taft administration can point to a solid record of practical achievements in labor legislation.

The Safest Man in Sight.

From the Petaluma, Cal., Argus. By November it is likely that the common sense of the country will have found itself so far as to see and say that, for the presidency, Mr. Taft is the safest man in sight.

Honest and Brave.

From the Morristown, Pa., Herald. Fair-minded people, even if they do not believe that bills in equity and indictments under the Sherman anti-trust law are the proper thing, must credit the president with an honest and grave determination to enforce the law as it stands.

TURKEY TAKES BULL BY HORNS

Ottoman Empire Declares War On Allies.

FIGHT NOW IS ON IN EARNEST

Long Smoldering Rage of the Balkan Peoples Against the Islamites Will Be Given Vent in a Warfare That Will Involve All the States of Lower Europe, Including Greece, Which Is Drawn Into It Through Cretans.

London, Oct. 18.—Turkey has formally declared war upon Serbia and Bulgaria, and the minister for foreign affairs said that Greece, not included in the original declaration, would be notified at once that Turkey intends to fight her old enemy. Forestalling this action, Greece has declared war on Turkey.

When the declaration of war against the two Balkan states was made public there was much comment over the fact that Greece had been left out, but the minister of foreign affairs said that Greece had not attacked the Ottomans as had the lesser states and that therefore she was not included. As soon, however, as the porte learned that the Cretans were admitted to the Greek chamber of deputies it chose to regard that act as a casus belli.

Serbia has notified her envoy at Constantinople that she on her side, has declared war against Turkey and King Peter has gone to the front to order his troops to advance.

Turkey, in her declaration, blames Bulgaria and Serbia for the border fighting of the last few weeks and accuses the little states of attempting to interfere with the internal affairs of Turkey. The Turkish war department has made a list of the recent skirmishes on the Bulgarian frontier accusing the Bulgars of being the aggressors in every instance. The king of Bulgaria has left for the headquarters of his army.

As soon as war was declared Turkish troops were ordered to advance along the border country of Serbia and Bulgaria, and skirmishing between the Turks and allies began without delay. There are reports of fighting along the Turkish and Greek on the frontier. Two Greek gunboats stole past the Turkish blockade at the mouth of the Gulf of Arta and captured a Turkish torpedo boat which had fled from the Italians into the almost landlocked bay and which with two steam launches armed with rapid-fire guns made a fat prize for the gunboats.

There came from Novibazar reports of an engagement between Serbian troops and tribesmen in which the former killed 200 and drove their enemies back. No definite word has come from the Montenegrin and Turkish armies facing each other after the long struggle around Scutari.

RICH CONTRIBUTORS

Murray and Lawson Tell What They Did For Roosevelt.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Frank A. Munsey, the publisher, testified before the senate committee that he contributed $118,000 all told to the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign. Thomas W. Lawson of Boston testified that he spent $100,000 in advertising to promote the Roosevelt candidacy in Massachusetts.

Mr. Lawson told the committee of a $1,000,000 fund that had been pledged by "Wall street" to nominate a dark horse at the Democratic convention. The plan failed, according to Mr. Lawson, because of his co-operation with William J. Bryan.

George E. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee of 1904, was recalled to the witness stand and explained some of the seeming discrepancies between his previous testimony and the testimony of other witnesses. He contradicted flatly the testimony of former Governor Odell and also the testimony of J. P. Morgan. He denied that he had any knowledge of the Standard Oil $100,000 contribution.

Charged With Big Theft.

Havana, Oct. 18.—Francisco Mayos, keeper of the vault in the National bank here, has been arrested. It is charged that he and an assistant, Miss Taint, stole the $200,000 which was supposed to have been inclosed in a registered letter to the National Park bank of New York, but which never reached that institution. Mayos and Miss Taint together made up the registered package.

LIEUTENANT BECKER EAGER TO TESTIFY

State Rasts Its Case In the Rosenthal Murder.

New York, Oct. 18.—After Justice Goff refused to permit the district attorney to prove that Becker, with no other apparent income than his salary of $2,250 a year as a lieutenant of police, deposited upward of $60,000 in savings banks during the months that Jack Rose acted as his collector, the state rested its case against Lieutenant Becker.

It was the only important advantage that the defense secured since the trial began on Oct. 7. The testimony had gone steadily against Becker from the first day. The district attorney had hoped to clinch his case by showing the jury a money motive for the murder and showing that it was Becker's fear that Rosenthal's exposures would stop the flow of graft and would drive him from the police department, that prompted the killing; but Justice Goff held that there was no evidence to show that Rosenthal knew that Becker was depositing large sums secured by blackmailing gamblers. It was true, said Justice Goff, that the affidavit made by Rosenthal a few days before the murder contained a statement that Becker was getting large sums of money, but such a statement, in the opinion of the court, was too inferential to be a legal basis for the introduction of such evidence as Becker's bank accounts.

John P. McIntyre said that Becker is eager to testify and that he may be allowed to have his way, but that no definite decision had been reached. The matter was a ticklish one. There was a possibility that with Becker on the stand the district attorney, privileged on cross-examination to go into Becker's whole life, might find some way to get in evidence the records of the bank accounts and to bring out other damaging facts.

MRS. WILLIAM MARCONI.

Acted as Nurse to Husband. Wireless Inventor, Hurt by Auto.

Spezia, Oct. 18.—William Marconi's right eye, which was injured in an auto accident on Sept. 25 last, has been removed. A consultation of physicians resulted in the decision that the removal of the eye was indispensable, the famous wireless inventor being threatened with total blindness. Signor Marconi stood the very painful operation without flinching. His wife, who has been a devoted nurse since her distinguished husband's accident, was present during the operation. Signor Marconi's condition is satisfactory.

OPENLY BETTING AT TRACK

Despite the Recent Instructions of Governor Marshall, the Race Meeting at Mineral Springs Park in Porter County Is Characterized by Gambling Open and Aboveboard, Conducted by Agents of Track's Promoters.

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 18.—At the race meeting at Mineral Springs park, near Porter, Chicago gamblers are bidding defiance to the laws of Indiana and openly are making "hand books." There were thousands of spectators from Chicago and Indiana at the races and the betting was so open and bold that messengers circulated among the women in the grandstand, exhibited programs containing the odds and accepted wagers from the women. In the betting shed there were nineteen "hand books" operated by three men each of whom accepted every wager offered, and there was no effort at any time to prevent operations. The book makers paid $25 a book for the privilege of operating, and the few "piker" books that attempted to operate without paying tribute were closed and their owners were escorted to the gates and told not to return until they were prepared to pay for operating.

There was no secrecy about the betting. A program on which the odds appeared was in each book and each bet was recorded in a book. When a race was run the holder of a winning ticket went to the cashier, gave his initials and obtained his money. No receipts were necessary, and the regulation bookmaker's ticket was absent from the betting ring.

Bennie Hyman, promoter of the new gambling enterprise, was about the track all afternoon and assured his patrons that the meeting would continue fifteen days. The betting was in charge of Bill Murray of Chicago, said to be a representative of Jim O'Leary, Johnnie Colby and Charles Smith, the latter two members of the gambling syndicate of Perry & Smith of Chicago. Abe Jacobs, also a representative of Perry & Smith, made the "big store" book of the afternoon. He "made" the odds and the other bookmakers followed him.

The Chicago contingent seemed to have plenty of money and anxious to wager it. Detectives from the office of Herman Schuetzler, assistant chief of police, of Chicago, mingled with the crowd and watched the gambling, but if there was a single deputy sheriff from Porter county or any other officer representing the state of Indiana, on the grounds he failed to make his presence known.

The Governor Speaks.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"I shall not permit betting in Indiana. I have given instructions to proper officials to this effect. If they fail to carry out my instructions, I shall displace them." This was Governor Marshall's declaration after hearing of betting at the race meeting of the Mineral Springs Jockey club at Porter, Ind. The Democratic vice presidential candidate passed through Chicago en route west on a speaking tour. "I left the duty of enforcing the law in the hands of the attorney general, Thomas M. Honan," Governor Marshall said. "My instructions were positive: 'Search for all evidence, take advantage of every excuse for prosecution, and wipe gambling out.' I want it understood that I am not backing down. Mr. Honan is at work and there is no doubt we will put the gamblers out of business."

PUT IN EVIDENCE

Government Introduces Many Letters in Dynamite Case.

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—Miss Mary C. Dye of Pittsburg, reported to be a former sweetheart of John J. McNamara, was an important witness in the dynamite cases. She identified fifty or sixty letters and fully 200 more will be presented to her for the same purpose. Letters in the handwriting of Ryan, Butler, J. J. McNamara, E. A. Caney, Hocking, Webb, Barry and a few other defendants were identified by Miss Dye. She also identified letters she had written to them at McNamara's dictation and letters from P. J. Morrin and William Bernhardt as having been received at headquarters while she was employed there.

These letters, the government holds, all contain correct references to dynamiting, and they will be read to the jury as soon as this identification is completed. There are nearly 500 of these letters, and they were written in the years from 1906 to 1911 and corresponded in many instances to the transportation of dynamite and the destruction of property as testified to by McManigal before the grand jury.

"Billy" Ruth May Not Recover.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—There is no improvement in the condition of William Ruth, the crippled Gary newsboy, who parted with his useless leg to save the life of Miss Ethel Smith, burned in a motorcycle accident. His condition has become serious. Miss Smith, who is now at her home, is able to leave her bed. Skin from Ruth's leg was grafted over her burns.

THE COLORS OF DIAZ GAINING FOLLOWERS

Old President's Nephew Leads Huge Revolt.

Tampico, Mexico, Oct. 18.—Throughout the entire southern states of the republic, Felix Diaz, nephew of the deposed president of Mexico, is being proclaimed president.

Five regiments of infantry, the bulk of the federal troops on this coast, have joined the Diaz colors. After a stormy session of the congress during which Deputy Molenos demanded the resignation of the cabinet and was quashed by the president of the chamber refusing to permit discussion, Molenos again attacked the government and insisted peace could come to Mexico only through either the resignation of Madero or the intervention of the United States.

General Diaz is in undisputed control, not only of the port of Vera Cruz, but the entire state. He has three thousand men under his immediate command in that city while rebel troops, loyal to his cause, are within forty miles of the national capital. Diaz has a huge cache of arms and ammunition in Vera Cruz. He has the backing of his uncle's millions, and did not undertake this revolt without vast stores.

The Madero government is doomed. General Diaz declared that General Bernardo Reyes, now held in the military prison in Mexico City, and who is under indictment in San Antonio, Tex., will be a member of his cabinet and added that he would hold Madero strictly accountable for the welfare of Reyes. Jose Diaz Ordaz, cousin of the new insurrecto leader, who was an officer in the federal army, went over to the new cause and took not only his own, but three other regiments of government troops with him.

TRAIN WILL LEAVE AT NINE O'CLOCK

Special Over Pennsylvania For Ball Game at Richmond Sunday Will Carry Many Fans.

EXPERT CLOSE CONTEST

Local fans will be given a chance to spend Sunday in Richmond. The special train will leave here at 9 o'clock over the Pennsylvania railway. The game with the Richmond K. I. O. league team will probably be the last game of the season and since many demands have been made for a way to get to Richmond, Manager Maibaugh will accommodate the fans and run a special train.

Earl Halterman will pitch the game for Rushville and the team is confident he can win from the leaguers. Huck Wallace will pitch for Richmond. The two teams should put up some game and a battle is expected. The Rushville line-up will not be changed as Manager Maibaugh believes his team fast enough to win.

Langford. "If that is so, the Democrats are deceitful and cannot be trusted, as they declare that a protective tariff is unconstitutional. A little Wilson was too much for the country in 1892 and it is too much for the people in 1912. A professor was in the saddle then and a professor seeks to get in the saddle now. The first Wilson knew nothing of the tariff and neither does the second professor."

Referring to the Democratic charge that the tariff is responsible for the high cost of living, Langford showed that the cost of living is as high and higher in the free trade countries of Europe. He stated and proved that the real cost of the living conditions is that the consumption is greater than the production.

"Roosevelt was never robbed of the nomination at Chicago, because his name was not presented to the convention," declared Langford. "Why did he not organize the Progressive party before he went to Chicago. He had declared that he had always been a Republican and that the principles of Republicanism were the greatest ever formed by the minds of men and were destined to live always. Yet he went to Chicago to get the nomination and when he failed he changed his tune and opinion of the Republican party. His love for power is such that those who disagree with him are liars and are made members of the Ananias club. Men like Governor Hadley and Governor Deneen do not become liars in a minute or an hour."

In referring to the Chicago convention the speaker said that before Roosevelt became a candidate 117 delegates had been selected in the south for Taft and fifteen for Roosevelt. Then Roosevelt started contests for effect as was stated by Frank Munsey in his newspapers. It was an attempt to throw dust in and pull the wool over the eyes of the people. Roosevelt started in the convention with more than 200 contests, but after consideration they were reduced to 72, the number contained in the motion of Governor Hadley to seat the Roosevelt delegates. Roosevelt then tried to get Governor Deneen to reduce the number to thirty-four. If the motion had carried Roosevelt would not have had sufficient delegates to nominate himself.

The speaker showed the California delegates were elected from a district that opposed Roosevelt by a majority of several thousand and that under the Johnson gag law, which provides that as the state goes in the primary so goes every district. The convention held that the district vote should rule.

"Suppose that Governor Marshall of Indiana should have a law enacted declaring that when a state cast a majority of its votes for a certain party every congressman from every district shall follow the rule of the majority," said Langford. "Then, if Indiana goes Democratic next month and Billy Risk is elected, as he will be, he will not be able to serve and his Democratic opponent, although not elected, will take a seat in congress. That is a supposition but it clearly illustrates the California case."

Referring to the Canadian reciprocity Langford argued that as the Canadians turned it down it must have been good for the United States as it was bad for Canada. He also spoke of the abuse of Taft by the magazines because he sought to make them pay extra postage on their advertising sections. The abuse was led by Frank Munsey and Collier's, who are now leading the Roosevelt fight.

"Taft sought to reduce the cost of harvesting machinery to the American farmer starting the prosecution against the Harvester trust," declared Langford. "He then made an enemy of George W. Perkins, who ought to be in the penitentiary. Perkins is now putting up the money for the Roosevelt fight."

The size of the crowd last night was reduced by the counter attractions both here and at Milroy, where a revival is in progress. The Rushville drum corps played at the meeting.
